Thread: [\[Amazon FBA\] 0 --> 5k a month in 1 month \[Passive Income\]](#)

DarkWebInsider - November 28, 2018, 7:26 pm

Since my 1st round of inventory has just sold, I figured it was time to post a bragging rights thread for my recent earnings with Amazon FBA. I started this venture back in July when I purchased mvmt's mentorship and sold my first unit October 12th.

Profit is about 35%. 2nd round of inventory hits the warehouse Monday :)

My goals are to continue scaling this product and to add new ones soon.

Congrats! After I save up using another method, I think I'll do the mentorship with mvmt. How much time would you say you dedicate per week?

Amazing work bro.

Great to see another successful protégé of mvmt.

They are definitely amazing in what they are doing. As for yourself, I wish you more success & growth.

Keep scaling & growing.

Regards, Wolf ?

For Amazon, the set up of the business is all done on your own time. Once you actually have live sales coming in, it only requires a few hours per week for management and improvements.

This. Mvmt is a huge resource throughout the process and if you listen to what he says you will be successful.

The method is Amazon FBA, and these earnings reflect my company's sales over the last month :)

I've been helped by the user mvmt who has posted in this thread. You can look into his mentorship if it interests you

Niceee man, I sell wholesale goods from China on Ebay and Amazon UK. I haven't really expanded or made future plans as of yet, because I do not get the time. I gain steady £500-600 profits every month as a side income. Looks like you are doing very well though! If you continue to reinvest the profits, you will grow bigger and you can get into private labeling and market your goods on a mass scale. Try selling on Ebay too, less fee costs and more control over refunds and inventory. Its good to sell on multiple marketplaces. Think bigger!
