Thread: Theocritus' Ebook Review for "Mobile Private Money" by Bromden

Theocritus - November 30, 2018, 6:56 am

Before I begin my review, I would like to thank you for giving us ("Appraisers"), the opportunity to review your eBook.

Product: MOBILE PRIVATE MONEY MAKING METHOD | NO SKILL REQUIRED | \$2100+ MONTHLY | VOUCHER <== by "Bromden"

EDIT: Earlier today I received information that this may not be working for a lot of people and that multiple buyers have gotten their accounts banned etc before any payout. I have also been informed this method may be publicly available on some other forum/site, but I have not been able to confirm or deny that at this time. Anyhow, as it stands, this method should be considered a high-risk purchase with no guarantee of any success/payouts at this time.

This eBook consists of 1 method and 2 pages.

The structure and grammar of the eBook are overall fluent and I saw minimal errors.

As stated, this eBook consists of only 2 pages, but you get all the information you really need in these 2 pages as well. You will take advantage of a certain service using 2 mobile devices and use that to make money with, after a quick 30 or so minute setup time. After you have set up the method on the devices and followed OP's instructions, you should only have to do another 5 or so minutes of work every week to keep the method going and earning you money. As far as I understood it, you will earn a set amount with this method which is in the $700 range but if you just replicate it as OP states then you will be able to get that up to $1000s a month. I am not sure if you would require more mobile devices if you do want to replicate the method multiple times, but I would ask OP about that anyhow before buying.

This method has a set payout date so depending on when you start doing the method you may have to wait anywhere from 5-30 days to get your first payout.

I am happy to also tell you that this is a method I have never before seen by far and I view it as 100% original. This is not a method that resembles anything I have seen on the HF marketplace in the past or any other marketplace for that matter. It is a very interesting, unique as well as simple method overall. Oh, and if I did not already mention it, this method is autopilot except the short initial setup time as well as a few minutes a week but that is nothing either way.

When it comes to the price of this at $300, I am about to largely repeat what I said about OP's previous product that I also reviewed that had a similar price point.

Yes, this product may seem expensive to a lot of you people because you are used to $20 eBooks that largely resell known methods yet promise you to make $10000 or some shit a month. Well, the hard reality is you must spend money to make money. Yes, I know this is by far not the cheapest method on HF and is probably in the top 5% in terms of pricing level. Nevertheless, this product has a fair value proposition in my opinion. I would say that OP could have added some imagery to this eBook and more explicit detail to make it even easier to understand for absolutely everyone. That is not to say it's hard to understand as is, it really is not. Since OP also provides support, I am sure no one will have issues understanding it fully no matter anyway.

Now on the point of doing this outside the US, I have no clue how difficult or possible it may be. I am not from the US myself and have not attempted to get this running myself yet, though I quite possibly will in future. You would probably need Proxy/VPN tools at the very least, as well as other similar tools to try this from outside the US. The biggest issue I see with this is if you would need a US-based payout method as well. In that case, It could be very difficult for non-US purchasers to get money from this if they needed let's say, a US-based bank account etc. I would ask OP about that as well if you want to buy but you are from outside the US.

Final Thoughts

Overall though I think this is a wholly unique method with a pretty solid value proposition. Yes, you will need $300 to get this in the first place, but you should be able to 2x that within a month at the very longest, which is not at all bad. If you are one of the people that are going to scream "omg I'm not spending $300 on some stupid eBook!". Well in that case run right along little one, these profits are not for you... for everyone else though, if you have the money to spend on this, I would heavily consider it if you are US based. Otherwise, I would first ask OP some questions regarding doing this outside the US then potentially buy It after that, if the answers you got were satisfactory.

Overall I think this is a very original as well as a new product with an easy setup, high earning potential and I can only also imagine HQ support from OP ?

how am i being overly positive to the product being sold? i make a LOT of reviews, and i justify why i think it's good or bad. In this case, i believe the product is overall solid so i am more positive about it.. Am i not allowed to be positive about a product even with proper justification? When i write a negative review no one accuses me of doing anything shady. The point of the entire appraisers group is that WE DO NOT TAKE BRIBES or anything else of the sort when reviewing products. Sure i think bromden is an overall HQ user and his products tend to be HQ in the current marketplace.

That does not mean i need to take any sort of financial gain to make a positive review...

and to be clear: I do NOT, nor have i EVER reviewed a product for ANY financial gain or other gains of ANY sort EVER. if you don't want to believe me you can frankly fuck off or try to find proof that does not exist....

as you just said I THINK BROMDEN IS AN HQ MEMBER

your credibility went out the window as reviewing an ebook would give u no indication he is an HQ member so all thats tells us is you have a past friendship with bromden to review his ebook. as i can imagine how the pm went down. "hey buddy when u have time can u review my ebook and make sure you post a good review even if it sucks ya know? just so i can keep on getting sales" Do you have a proof that the method is unoriginal or non-working or anything? It's easy to make assumptions about who is what and to be honest I had the same thoughts as you in the back of my mind but I know that flaming based on assumptions is not the right thing to do. You may just flame an innocent guy. Isn't being quiet till you have solid proof smarter?

It's sad to see that even if your method is great and never seen before people will still be skeptical because marketplace is flooded with bad methods.

You guys have to realize that not every method is bad.

This review was well written and honest. Great work man.

The fact that people think the "Appraisers team" is a joke makes me wonder how brain dead can you be.

If this was individually reviewed by someone who was just a known member of the community. Sure, keep up with your doubts...

But the Appraisers team doesn't work like that. And I have been following Theo's review from his oldest to the newest. He seems to me like the No-BS type of guy who honestly could care less about pleasing someone for monetary benefits which are insignificant to him and the entire Appraisers team.

Which brings us back to the question in hand. It was reviewed by a reputed member backed by an even stronger group whose reputation holds name in the marketplace. Should you wish to doubt it, it is your individual choice but you clearly have no rights to judge someone without actually knowing if it works or not. That's just blatant sales thrashing and flaming against someone is a no-go if you took some time to read the HF rules. If not, I suggest you read it immediately.

As for the method itself, open up a contract before dealing with Bromden and purchasing the method. Should it fail to deliver, I know Bromden has the integrity to not only refund you like a gentleman but do so without even asking because they maintain a reputation over here. They are not your average-joe E-Book seller who sells: Invest $50 make $10000/month

Company is W, right? It's an public exploit that is not going to work forever. Bromden should've noted down you are exploiting a company and its features. Its probably not even legal. Look at my profile, his friends all gave me negative popularity because they know bromden is selling method that is available for free on other forums. More and more accounts are getting caught and its only matter of time before that stops working.

I did not. Its available for free on other forums (not going to say names). Its available for free because its public and its been so saturated by now that everyone knows about it. Someone post this on his thread but quickly deleted h t tps: // ibb. co/ h Mx Wn Fr (remove spaces) and you can see its that app and your exploiting their system (cant say which so i not leak the method). I'm actually glad Theocritus is following up on this and am interested to see what he will do. I have also been skeptical of his reviews in the past. I think a bigger issue with it is all the time and effort it would take to set up and maintain every single one of the methods he reviews here - he simply doesn't have time for it. He usually posts if he actually tried the method or not, so it's not like he's hiding it, but yes, anybody can look at an eBook and say it looks good without actually trying it and it can be a complete failure like this one.

Theo, you're really the only Appraiser I ever see doing reviews. Maybe it's a good idea to enlist some more help so your group is actually able to try each and every method you review? I feel like having members actually doing the method and being able to report earnings would add a lot more credibility versus "Yea, grammar is good, layout is good, method looks good, overall would buy" it is rare i have time to test methods as most of them i already have tried and seen before so i have no reason to "try" them again. other times like with this method i cant really try it out as it is for the US market which i am not a part of. i make my reviews based on my knowledge and the contents in the eBook in question. my reviews are never made to decide for you what to buy or not, but only provide informative content that can give you a better idea of what something is before buying it. i have tried getting other people on board but most do not fit the quality needed to be an appraiser.

when it comes to the reviews i have made for bromden that people for some reason seem to keep criticizing in one way or another: i have reviewed methods for him as he has reached out to ask me to do it on multiple occasions. i tend to accept most requests so i have done it with his methods as well. the reviews i have made for his products i suppose in retrospect have been overall positive, but that is only because the products he has put out i have deemed to have potential, not be something recycled and republished and fairly well written etc.

also i intend to try out multiple methods that i have reviewed on here recently as i think they have potential, but it would still take me weeks if not more to get the first results, meaning i can't just wait on that before posting a review, it would take too long. what i intend to do is update my reviews when and if i do get payouts/results from them

All understandable, and I understand it can be hard to find people right for the job.

Quote:i make my reviews based on my knowledge and the contents in the eBook in question. my reviews are never made to decide for you what to buy or not, but only provide informative content that can give you a better idea of what something is before buying it.

Your reviews are treated like gold around here. Many people seek you out exclusively, and do so before giving out any other review copies, if they give any others out at all. They put your reviews at the very top of their sales thread so it's immediately the first thing prospective buyers see. People see a review from a what looks to be a HQ user with fancy graphics and his own group dedicated to reviews, so whether you intend to or not, I think a ton of people probably base their purchase off of your reviews. When you're influencing a large amount of people, I think actually going through and testing certain things needs to be a priority. Not trying to say you do a shitty job or anything, idk, I hope you see what I'm getting at.

Again, refer to the above remarks. So you get a eBook to review, look it over, think everything looks good, so you drop that initial review. They plaster that right on the top of the sales thread. People start buying. A month later, the method goes ass up, method turns out to be trash, etc. Sure, you can edit your initial review, but is the OP going to edit it on the sales thread? How many people have already bought and invested in the method based off the initial review?

There's a lot of factors at play and I for sure don't have all the answers, just giving my thoughts. I just see a lot of BS in the marketplace and wish things could be different.

HELLO, THOSE WHO ARE IN DOUBT,

I have just received my payout for "The Method" and BROMDEN and DELIBERATE are indeed selling a legit method. They did not put ways how to prevent a ban, and i am dearly sorry if any of you were banned. I have taken the extra step and secured my account for the method and I just received payment 10 hours ago.

<https://imgur.com/a/FLRGk7B>

Please, don't beg for a refund. Try again and be smarter. I told Bromden personally to update the method so let's see what happens next.

Cheers
