Thread: My way of "doubling dipping" with paypal and getting money more efficiently

bustharmods - November 30, 2018, 8:33 am

Okay, this is going to be a basic thread, nothing fancy, dont kill me in new to this lmfao.

So, you want to make a email which is like this jennnastone1999@yahoo.com and then make another email such as jennastone1999@gmail.com (the 1st email has 3 n's and the first one has 2, you will own both of these emails)

Why? because people will in a rush send you money to Jennastone1999@gmail.com instead of the one you asked, because people dont check spellings and they're mind fills in the blanks, and they realise it say you havent received the payment and ask for the receipt (or ask if you sent it to the right email) and then IF he has done it wrong then he should send you another payment to the "right" email, this is not 100% sure fire way to make them pay, but it works id say 40% of the time.

Sorry for the awful explanation, im new to this shit and im really tired lmfao but i hope it helps, i dont know if this is a known method or not but i just came up with it when i realised alot of my customers were spelling my email wrong and sending money to it.

Great Methods tbh ,but instead you can Later say that its not triple n but just double this way you can make it work 100% of time

Basic double dip, doesn't work for people that copy paste though.

I always found the Inspect Element - Payment failed one better. Always worked better for me.
