You are not supposed to use a thread for this kind of generic help requests, you have to post with a specific issue

What kind of problem do you have ?

Pleas ask a detailed question with some code if possible so we can help you.

Is there a specific issue you are having? Nobody can help if they dont know what your stuck with !

Wow thats a very specific post you had there, you need to post an example of your code, explain what you have tried already and what your trying to achieve oh and most importantly that you have neglected to do is specify what your actual problem is :')
