Thread: CAUTION - incendiary.support scamming on skype

Anima - December 2, 2018, 12:27 pm

Caution!! A guy called incendiary.support is impersonating people on skype.

He just added me impersonating Speclizer to try get ETH out of me, now changed to Zexi

Screenshots - <https://imgur.com/a/uMUdIVg>

Just please be cautious, I made sure to get things confirmed through hackforums in case it wasn't legit and it sure paid off for me. Please everyone be careful!

Check their name!! If it is incendiary.support be sure not to deal with them!

Update: Also be careful of apexofficial_

May be doing a database to report impostors soon

Seems legit, I added the fruit loop myself under an alt and he tried to grab $200 off me. loooool

You scammers are way to easy to bait. ?

I'm amazed how fast he added me on skype, It was literally about 2 mins after i posted on the thread. Typically people don't just add you out of the blue on something like skype without you providing your details so was a bit of a red flag for me. Scamming little fuckers, it's a shame there's no hf account to link it to atm

No shit bro, I dealt with him once. Pretty awesome guy. Never in my life expected something like this to happen...

As for the money, yea... I was working my ass off to get your mentorship. I generally don't lose my anger but curses to that guy.

Give a boost to his shitty ego on how people are falling for him... since he is messaging from Skype directly and hunting.

Whoever this person is on HF will never get detected. That's the problem. The only thing is the people on the receiving end has to be careful enough to know & double check via PM with the original person.

Which most of them won't since he's "offering them a good deal"

It's really sick and disgusting.

The thing is, people on HF (onsite) forget to use 'Contracts' for any deals.

The additional factor of confirming is just far outreach for most of them.

I'd never scam for any amount considering i make fuck ton more being legit in the long run. People just need to start using contracts more and actually read my thread where i say i only do deals with contracts and only deal via PM.

Even if i know the person i am speaking to off site, i still msg them on hf to confirm its just common sense really
