Got scammed by Devsoft for 20$

<https://hackforums.net/contracts.php?action=view&cid=17959>

I should have done more research but needed BTC asap so was kinda hasty with it. Original deal was 50$ but agreed to do it in increments. I went first with 20$ and lost it.

Will update with more details and screenshots shortly. ?

Well at least it was for $20 and not the full amount. I would suggest adding the dispute here as well

Alot of those reports are invalid or refunded. Have you even read them besides the titles? I don't care about the 20$ nor I think I will be refunded. I ran a store for years and obviously some disputes arise due to paypal or other circumstances.

Now I'm not bitching just informing I got scammed. No need to comment. Any way to remove the red rating for being unjustified since I jut got scammed?

At a quick glance, none of them were related to the selling of a product but all currency exchanges. If you have X and need Y, you should have no issue fulfilling you obligation of X.

I think the 6 I read are still open and unresolved. One of them a different user paid back the money you scammed. I'm not going to read all 29 reports you have against you, some of which include reports for like $9. Even if you ended up paying them back, how hard is it to pay someone $9 fucking dollars in a timely manner lmao.

EDIT: Home now with spare time, let's take a look at all the ones unresolved:

^ All unresolved from what I can see

Left out a couple because they were long and I didn't feel like reading 5 pages of shit to see if they were resolved or not.

Regardless of what's resolved or not, still pretty obvious that at the very least you're a shitty business person.
