Looks like is not the first dispute left unresolved, add the dispute to the database and edit b-rating

Damn meow bet you're glad you weren't willing to go first.

Also, charge his ass BACK

Well my intention wasn't to scam the seller of the BTC, so I sent the money through FNF on my own IP rather than using a proxy.

Paypal is literally retarded, all they do is look at IP's and a bunch of other smaller shit to see if the payment was unauthorized.

Since I had sent the funds through my home IP (the one I always use), the "Unauthorized transaction" case was denied.

Idrc it was just $100, scammer was literally some grown ass man who has likely never worked a day in his life.

If you need to scam for $100 then you must really need money baddddd lmao

Edit: I'd just like to know if he was banned or if he vac banned cause he has some nice awards that have value lmao

Bump, looks he just vac-banned.

Don't bother dealing with that idiot
