If this was an available domain you could pick it up for less than $£20.

The domain is new but you can see that can give you potential traffic since it direct trending graphics market in near future .

So offer me I will choose accordingly;)

Well, you won't sell it for over the registrar price then.

Sorry to burst the bubble but it's worth about the same as any other .com domain with "gfx" in name (in some cases even less, since if your company name is "awesomegfx", you'll prefer "awesomegfx.com" rather than "gfxtrend.com").

Good luck with sales tho and hmu if it sees some traffic in the future.

The domain sell is most of the time subject to your future project / business plan also so anyone who think they want to go in this field and find specific words unique or related to their interest , they purchase it ..and yes thank :)
