Got server and will get a replacement one because of some issues of one being down which is why it took a while.

He seemed to have just abandoned the discord chat but it's 4 AM where I am at and I am not gonna say it's completely a scam yet.

It's a piece of shit you bought mate, can't you see the screenshot? It's obtained from amazon webservices, you can actually get aws $150 or more worth coupons for the same amount of btc.

I got a deal for $20 worth of bitcoin lol. Kinda sick of low IQ people in the community who want people that pay Crypto to go first when they barely have any more reputation. They get 0 percent risk. Even if they pay with Paypal there still isn't a 50/50 risk for the person giving Crypto cause

Paypal accepts false chargebacks.

You are comparing monitored servers by Amazon to my un-monitored servers that you can infect with a ransomware, host a botnet on and do plenty of other things that you most certainly can't do on AWS servers without getting your server closed fairly quickly. I've communicated with the user that I had problems with the server he had bought. I've since given him a different server, and shortly a second and third server free of charge.

Why would i compare your with Amazon when your servers are deployed from aws itself haha ?

Do you have a reading problem? I just said they aren't deployed from AWS. Good luck with performing the actions you can on my servers on any AWS servers.
