WOW

What can I say... I found out about HF from a video on YouTube in the Runescape Category about this user "TrapNation" who used to frequent HF on the Runescape and other sections and later on become worth 9 figures in real life. After that I made my account.

I really started off with solely browsing the Vices Section. That was my home. Especially when I first started messing around with lsd for the first time age 16. It brought me knowledge instead of being conformed to society of what you should think. I became an autonomous individual at that point. I really started believing in myself. I began to really think. Wow, I made my first dollar on PayPal when I was 12 yrs old. I can really grind.

I was in love with RuneScape. For the better part of my teenage years (12-17) I was completely addicted to gambling on Runescape. I couldn't believe that I could make $50 gambling waking up on a Saturday at 7AM and by Noon I'd have made it. At the age of 13. It made me love the internet forever. That's part of the reason why I'm studying Computer Engineering @ college for a B.S. I would constantly play runescape poker and gamble hundreds in runescape doing flower poker, or dicing 6x2, or Horsing. It was a crazy time being alive. I was also very active in real life (won't get into it too much, but looking back I don't know I could manage my schedule back then)

Now, I'm making a comfortable and expanding 4 figures a month on HF. I plan on developing more excellent relationships to make long-term partners. I'm deeply planning on diving in to this business world. I could never see myself working for someone else to call "Boss". Fuck a boss, I made my own prices #SelfMade. Shoutout to HF paid stickies and banners. They are an AMAZING return on your investment. Plug to Omni ^.^ I'm so happy I gave HF my all and that I paid for Uber. Although, when I paid for Ub3r it was mid 2017 and BTC exploded later on lol... Oh well, that helped me grow to who I am today.

Overall, I love where HF is going. I love the expansion in automated services on here. Automation and decentralization are things that I totally love. It's great for human interaction. The staff has proven itself to come out on top with the new UI. It's seamlessly smooth in my opinion. Cheers to the Future.
