Thread: Soft Purge Bytes Bug

Dredd - December 21, 2018, 8:07 am

So I'm in a group a SF was soft purged and as a result I'm in negative 200 bytes was at almost +200 the owner reinstated the threads but my bytes never came back?

Fundamentally this is an even larger issue if say you have 1k posts in a group then its sold and purged will you lose 6000 bytes??

PerfectStorm - December 21, 2018, 8:09 am

Ooof that is no fun.

I got -24 only but that was for LQ posts.

Deany - December 21, 2018, 8:10 am

what group if you don't mind me asking

I could be wrong and maybe i made shit loads of lqp somewhere and they all got removed at once totalling 400 bytes but I doubt it ?

Hmm maybe staff will chime in. No idea what happened.

I while keep that confidential unless admins require it.

Roytoy - December 21, 2018, 8:19 am

That would really suck. I have hundreds if not thousands of posts in groups. I've always found groups a good place where you can have uninterrupted discussions with members you had the time to get to know well iNuke - December 21, 2018, 9:01 am

Well, I've spoke about this once with Xerotic. Basically, bytes are removed with posts BECAUSE if your post was removed there is a reason and it means you shouldn't have those bytes first. But, yeah, this is completely different when it comes to group, I guess Bytes shouldn't be removed when there is a group change/purge.

guess Bytes shouldn't be removed when there is a group change/purge. The group I'm in are planning on changing some bits up so purged a private sf inside the group. I'm sure this is a bug otherwise it would discourage posting in groups.

This is something that no one thought of before. Bytes are taken away when posts are deleted due to LQ but no one thought about other reasons for posts being deleted, Imagine every member posting in groups having thousands of bytes taken away from them every time the group gets rebranded lmao.

0xB9 - December 21, 2018, 9:20 am

I was wondering how I seen some users with negative bytes... curious to see what happens in this case. Good luck OP.

Yeah it's not a bug I think. As Roytoy said, I think it's just something they didn't plan first.

We'll see what Omni or Xero say about it. ? Wait & see.

Yeah again kinda falls under the definiton of a bug then it was intended to happen. ?

Listed 2.8k. Ill see if anyone bites ?

But the actual cost is over 3k after listing it, unless you deducted that?

I gambled a shitload either way. lets put it that way.

Omniscient - December 21, 2018, 10:28 am

The solution is simple. To disallow earning of Bytes in group forums.

Be nice, award god. ?

Shitposting in group subforums imho shouldn't get you any bytes, Omni's right.

Shitposting in general shouldn't get you bytes, that being said, not all posts in groups are shitposts.

All rules of HF should apply inside groups and shitposts should be reported and deleted, and bytes taken from their creator, but that shouldn't be done at the expense of posts that don't fall into that category imo.

As long as it stops people losing thousands sounds like a fair solution to me, shit posters like Lavish will be upset but they'll live.
