Thread: Nooby question about Ogads

4ground_daemon - December 21, 2018, 10:53 am

So I was looking on OGads and noticed that they had email submit offers on there. What confuses me is that when I click details i have to create a content blocker with a survey ect. I was expecting a simple email form that tells people to enter there email address? is there a way to make on of these in Ogads or have I just misunderstood the offer?

Thanks, Sam

The email submit offers you are seeing are delivered via the content locker you are creating. You direct the users to your webpage, which has the content locker you created and once the locker shows up it will display the email offers you selected. (depending on the visitor's location too)
