Thread: Is the crakrevenue referral program a scam?

Does anyone have any experience with crak's ref program? I know for sure that a decent amount of people have tried signing up with my ref link and it has been long enough for them to be accepted by now but still it says I have no referrals. Just curious if anyone else has had different experiences with it

I mean it is fairly easy to check that , you just need someone who has access to the dashboard (and rly APPROVED, it's not THAT easy to be approved on that network). Once that's done you can confirm if it works or not or if something is missing. Like get a friend to signup under your link.

But by intuition I would say affiliate network referral areas work fine
