Thread: RESOLVED - Scammed by Sith™ 's SEO service UID=83732692 for \$105 BTC

Another scam report against him and his SEO service:

Contract

Description

I hired Sith™ to do some SEO work. Since then the only thing I've received is fake website traffic (botted traffic).

I told him about the botted traffic but he said that it was legit traffic from social medias (kid don't think I use analytics services) and as if this wasn't enough, only a few days ago the traffic completely stopped (from a few k bot traffic to 0 bot traffic) just like that. It's no doubt it's not legitimate traffic and I've got ways to check this as well.

Here is a bit.ly [WARNING: potentially infected] link he gave me, "traffic report" he said.

<https://bitly.com/2E1cSTd+>

You can clearly see that suddenly the traffic just stopped. I don't care about fake (botted) website hits anyway but just some proof of his lies.

I gave him some keywords that he was gonna work on, but there have been zero (0) improvements. I've given him time but when I write to him he ignores me, he responded once and that was when I told him I would file a deal dispute.

I placed the order 11-07-2018 and he told me that he would be done (and have a full report) within 1 month.

Don't deal with this dude, he is simply a waste of time (and money).

I have done deals with Juffar; and speaking from my past experiences, he is legit. Although, I'm sorry after knowing about your loss, Juffar. Hopefully, you'll figure this out, and SEO isn't about links (just saying), a lot of things needs to be taken under consideration!

You should post it already because there might be more users thinking the same way like you do.

He is still ignoring my private messages and he has let me known that he has seen this thread. He said that he would send me the full report "tomorrow" (today) but I've had a very knowledgeable SEO guy take a look at this and he said that the few things that are done (not even close to all the things that are included in the package he Sith sold me) is the most low quality "shit" he's ever seen.

Just the fact that Sith kept sending bottled traffic (that he claims to be real) to the website is embarrassing.

I will have this thread open until he refunds me.

i showed you everything in the report as well as the traffic. As i said before you have a history of requesting refunds after you already received the service. Not going to risk a network built up over 10 years. i can show you screenshots of the articles if that would help? but i cannot display the URLS. ask anyone who does this business its very common practice.

Previous reports of user getting what he wants then requesting a refund.

Like I've said like 5 times now, I'd like you to send me links to these things:

The rank tracking setup

3. Suddenly the (bottled) traffic went to exactly 0 just from one day to another.
4. The ref parameter from the traffic was faked.

I've read the whole thread. The way Sith is dealing with this deal dispute just shows how LQ he is.

The buyer clearly states (with decent proof) that you did not do what he paid for. (You even made a mistake by saying stuff about T1 articles, even though they aren't in the package). Looking at the bit.ly [WARNING: potentially infected] it indeed is weird that the traffic just stopped out of nowhere. Also, when you are a legitimate SEO service you should provide the buyer with links to the articles. I've bought multiple SEO services before from real SEO services. They all provide you with links.

Even if Juffar is making everything up and you are a legitimate seller, then you are still dealing with this dispute as a 17 y/o kid. Go refund your Fortnite v bucks and refund this guy.

 3. Suddenly the real traffic stopped because you said you did not want to continue the service so i stopped promoting your site
 4. What do you mean by this.
- Hi Sith/Juffar,

I never thought that this dispute would go a long way. Anyway, I believe something is not clear, and I think Juffar is more concerned about what you stated in your package and what you've delivered. To make it more clear for everyone, I'll voluntarily answering all the aspects of this dispute.

Taking Sith's defense:

1. How was the traffic bottled?
 - If you promote a website/niche and the traffic or visitors drop from 100's to 0, then it's somewhat alarming that the work wasn't done organically. Even if you stopped promoting his site, then the effect must take place by a gradual decline in the visits not instantly.
2. The facebook page i linked you was an EXAMPLE of pages i use to promote websites not the actual page itself which if you re-read your PMs you can see that.
 - Juffar, I think he might have shown you an example of how he promote sites.
3. Suddenly the real traffic stopped because you said you did not want to continue the service, so I stopped promoting your site
 - I don't agree on this point, like I said even if you stopped promoting his site, then the effect must take place by a gradual decline in the visits not instantly.

My Opinion for both the Claimant/Defendant: (not being biased): The files/proofs given by Sith are not exactly what he mentioned in his package.

- The ranking setup is missing
- PBN links are missing
- Video submissions are missing

I checked the dropbox link, and I couldn't find the above things in it.

Nevertheless, I cannot affirm whether or not you sent him all the aforementioned things before this dispute. And I agree to the point your TOS clearly says "NO REFUNDS." But this implies when you have delivered your service properly, and the client isn't satisfied, or it didn't rank well. Since a lot of people claim, + from the proofs given by Sith are not adequate to say that everything was done properly!

I hope my explanation would help everyone. Most importantly, I'm not against Sith at all, as I know how he works and has earned his reputation by serving SEO Service, and so far I haven't seen such dispute against him. He is into a lot of things for a reason. Hopefully, you guys would resolve this by a partial/full refund or no refunds at all, or maybe you (Sith) could redeliver your service to Juffar and prove your worth and knowledge.

Regards

I really mean no disrespect at all but first you stated and went from "buying HQ SEO services" to SEOClerks. yes i am aware of all of those services fiverr ect and none of these are T1 High DFA articles. Most are LQ. The reason behind not showing direct links to high DFA blog networks is to not compromise networks that have cost me $40,000+ to build and age over about 5 years now. If any of them get taken down i take a major hit and have to rebuild again.

1. How was the traffic bottled?

- If you promote a website/niche and the traffic or visitors drop from 100's to 0, then it's somewhat alarming that the work wasn't done organically. Even if you stopped promoting his site, then the effect must take place by a gradual decline in the visits not instantly.

2. The facebook page i linked you was an EXAMPLE of pages i use to promote websites not the actual page itself which if you re-read your PMs you can see that.

- Juffar, I think he might have shown you an example of how he promote sites.

3. Suddenly the real traffic stopped because you said you did not want to continue the service, so I stopped promoting your site

- I don't agree on this point, like I said even if you stopped promoting his site, then the effect must take place by a gradual decline in the visits not instantly.

My Opinion for both the Claimant/Defendant: (not being biased): The files/proofs given by Sith are not exactly what he mentioned in his package.

- The ranking setup is missing

- PBN links are missing

- Video submissions are missing

I checked the dropbox link, and I couldn't find the above things in it.

Nevertheless, I cannot affirm whether or not you sent him all the aforementioned things before this dispute. And I agree to the point your TOS clearly says "NO REFUNDS." But this implies when you have delivered your service properly, and the client isn't satisfied, or it didn't rank well. Since a lot of people claim, + from the proofs given by Sith are not adequate to say that everything was done properly!

I hope my explanation would help everyone. Most importantly, I'm not against Sith at all, as I know how he works and has earned his reputation by serving SEO Service, and so far I haven't seen such dispute against him. He is into a lot of things for a reason. Hopefully, you guys would resolve this by a partial/full refund or no refunds at all, or maybe you (Sith) could redeliver your service to Juffar and prove your worth and knowledge.

Regards

01001I really appreciate this well thought out response man and i respect all the work you do as well thank you for your input. More to this point its just about not giving refunds to members who are taking advantage of the Contract system trying to get some kind of refund after they have received the services. The reason i dont offer refunds in most circumstances is i work with a team that i pay (as you probably know if you do SEO as well). I would be more then happy to do a 75% refund and a heavy discount on any of my packages. If that would be acceptable please let me know OP.

Most are LQ. The reason behind not showing direct links to high DFA blog networks is to not compromise networks that have cost me $40,000+ to build and age over about 5 years now. If any of them get taken down i take a major hit and have to rebuild again.

Just go to most sellers on SEOClerks (which is pretty LQ imo), or to some sellers on affiliate forums. They provide the links without a problem.

Sith, I paid you $400 btc for a website you claimed to do SEO on, It was such a disappointment to see that it never did shit to help it rank.

I dont know Juffar or any of these people, I don't fuck with people here. I decided to let it go because to me $400 is just not worth the hassle.

Now that I'm seeing you're doing this to several people, PM me, because I do know about all this bullshit, but I just decided to let it slide.

This thread is fucking valid, very very disappointed in you Sith, but what could I expect from a Hackforums user? Some fucking resold service from SEOClerks or even worse probably. At least they somewhat rank you up, regardless of how shitty their service is, your's hasn't done shit and It has been MONTHS.

EDIT: Like I said, PM me, and I will tell you the website you "worked on".

You should make your own deal dispute, his service is indeed shit and basically a scam.

I've received a partial refund so this dispute should be considered resolved.
