It's not obfuscated and there is a link to source code.

It's easy to use.
You generate your public private keypair. They are used to encrypt logs and make them accessible only to you.

After you have generated the keypair, you can open the public key and copy it in the settings.

After you have chosen all the options you need you have to click on Save to save the settings.

After you have saved your settings, you can start use it to monitor your own personal computer ?

Paskowsky

I'm sorry. Didn't mean to be rude but I just want to say that you support the developer by buying his product instead of asking an update on this free version.
