

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Official - Wolf Pack recruitment - The full moon rises, the lonely wolf howls.

Cara Delevingne - December 28, 2018, 12:44 am

Wolfpack Official Recruitment

- Lone wolves won't succeed without the pack -

The Wolf Pack is a group based on discussion. Coming together to give opinions & host open debates. Wolf Pack stays together and looks after its members. We are looking for the lone wild wolves to join the pack.

What are we looking for? Dedicated members willing to take part in discussions, open debates and willing to help group members whenever and however they can.

Member with the time to put the effort in. Activity will be monitored heavily and we are looking for members dedicated to giving time and effort.

Members who are willing to take on tasks and have deadlines set for projects.

Kind and caring members who will look after other group members. Answering questions able to give knowledge to other members.

Are you interested in joining the pack?

If you are interested in joining the group, please submit an application below answering the following questions. What are your intentions within the group?

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

There are 3 stages in this recruitment. This being stage 1. If you are accepted past stage 1, you will receive a personal message with stage 2 attached. We will not accept users through USER CP.

I wish everyone who takes part good luck. Anyone has a chance to join the pack. I look forward to seeing new members shortly.

- THIS THREAD WILL CLOSE ON THE 25TH -

Snowwy - December 28, 2018, 3:33 am

=====
Snowwy's Wolfpack Official Recruitment Entry

=====

What are your intentions within the group?

My intentions within the group are pretty simple - I like being apart of something with meaning behind it. I really like the idea of this group especially because I believe it really does have the real wolf pack feeling to it. I love the idea that all the members stay together and look out for one another. I believe this group has a real family feel to it too and my intentions within this group is to become one of the members of it.

I also have intentions of staying super active within the groups sub-forum. I am online on the forums a lot so therefore I definitely will be an active member of the group - not only within the sub-forum but also around the entire forum itself. I always enjoy having a discussion about ANYTHING with anyone and can talk about all sorts of different topics for hours. I also love to meet and talk with new people from all over the world, and my intentions would also be to meet new members that are apart of Wolfpack that I haven't had the chance to meet as of yet.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

I do definitely see myself as a helpful member. I am ALWAYS willing to help out a member in need of it and I will always be willing to not only give helpful knowledge to other members within the group, but also gain more knowledge from the group to share and teach other new future members of Wolfpack. I am very helpful in regards to discussions and can always help people that are in need of it with all sorts of personal issues. I also have had experiences and knowledge with all sorts of different topics that are popular around the forum.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I 110% do have A LOT of time to dedicate in posting within the sub-forum and taking part in ALL activities that are created by the group. I enjoy being super active within ALL the different groups that I am apart of, and this will apply for Wolfpack too. I have zero issues with meeting activity requirements and will always give my best efforts possible towards the group. I am a very active member and will continue to be a very active member for a long time.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Most definitely. I will be able to complete assigned tasks not only on time, but possibly before the actual deadline. I like to plan everything in my life and I believe this is a great skill to have when deadlines for different tasks are required to be met. Some of the groups that I am apart of have assigned tasks for members and I have no issues with completing the tasks given to me by the deadline. I also have a lot of experience with meeting deadlines in the real world too and understand how important completing tasks on time really is.

Cara Delevingne - December 28, 2018, 4:41 am

Thank you for applying for Wolf Pack Snowwy! You will hear from me shortly ?

=====
Standard's Wolfpack Official Recruitment Entry
=====

What are your intentions within the group?

My intentions within the group are pretty simple - I like being apart of something with meaning behind it. I really like the idea of this group especially because I believe it really does have the real wolf pack feeling to it. I love the idea that all the members stay together and look out for one another. I believe this group has a real family feel to it too and my intentions within this group is to become one of the members of it.

I also have intentions of staying super active within the groups sub-forum. I am online on the forums a lot so therefore I definitely will be an active member of the group - not only within the sub-forum but also around the entire forum itself. I always enjoy having a discussion about ANYTHING with anyone and can talk about all sorts of different topics for hours. I also love to meet and talk with new people from all over the world, and my intentions would also be to meet new members that are apart of Wolfpack that I haven't had the chance to meet as of yet.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

I do definitely see myself as a helpful member. I am ALWAYS willing to help out a member in need of it and I will always be willing to not only give helpful knowledge to other members within the group, but also gain more knowledge from the group to share and teach other new future members of Wolfpack. I am very helpful in regards to discussions and can always help people that are in need of it with all sorts of personal issues. I also have had experiences and knowledge with all sorts of different topics that are popular around the forum.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I 110% do have A LOT of time to dedicate in posting within the sub-forum and taking part in ALL activities that are created by the group. I enjoy being super active within ALL the different groups that I am apart of, and this will apply for Wolfpack too. I have zero issues with meeting activity requirements and will always give my best efforts possible towards the group. I am a very active member and will continue to be a very active member for a long time.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Most definitely. I will be able to complete assigned tasks not only on time, but possibly before the actual deadline. I like to plan everything in my life and I believe this is a great skill to have when deadlines for different tasks are required to be met. Some of the groups that I am apart of have assigned tasks for members and I have no issues with completing the tasks given to me by the deadline. I also have a lot of experience with meeting deadlines in the real world too and understand how important completing tasks on time really is.

What are your intentions within the group?

I have noticed that Wolfpack has become one of the highest quality groups out there. Its members are well known in the community and that says a lot.

Getting into the group would be great. It'll be a chance for me to meet those people, exchange ideas and debate, learn from. Joining a prestigious group like this can only make me wanting to contribute more. Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Threads I'm more interested to are the ones that people seek for some sort of advice or help, within my area of knowledge of course. Yes, I consider myself a helpful member. Always happy to talk with anyone.

As for knowledge I can share with group, I study Computer Science. I can offer my knowledge in programming, Networking and Telecommunications etc. Moreover, I have done lots of research on crypto currencies and have some great findings to be shared. Last but not least, my first money making hustle was graphics design. It's been 7 or 8 years since I started, have learned tons of stuff since then. Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I'm active on HF most of the day. Always browsing it when home and constantly checking it on the phone when I'm out. I'm looking for a way to increase my activity even more and Wolfpack is ideal to motivate one to HQ post.

Activities can be very exciting so where's the fun of not taking part? Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Certainly, yes. I have great time management and looking forward to fill up some of my time.

Cara Delevingne - December 30, 2018, 4:26 am

Going through applications now, goodluck everyone

Pray - December 30, 2018, 12:53 pm

What are your intentions within the group?

My intention is to meet new people, engage in healthy discussions, and learn new things. I've recently returned to HF and would love to be part of a group that creates a good community that exchanges knowledge, debates, and sets up an environment where members can become friends. Back when I was more active, I was a part of Logic and Writers, so a close knit, high quality group is something I value very highly. Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Absolutely. This is one of my core values and something I strive to do whichever forum or thread I'm in. I love to help people and take part in discussions. Learning and teaching is one of the most interesting and fulfilling activities for me, so it's not something that I have to be pushed to do, it is something I will seek out and actively participate in. Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Yes, I have a good amount of free time on my hands right now and will be spending a large chunk of that time on the site. I will be able to participate in group activities everyday. Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Yes, my time management is good and I always strive to get my work done on time, typically several days prior to the deadline.

=====

.Elysium's. Wolfpack Application

=====

What are your intentions within the group?

I feel that groups are a tighter knit group of people and I enjoy socializing with a more common group. I also enjoy sharing information among people who I know have a common interest. This isn't something that is exclusive to groups however I know that the activity in groups is more focused and centric so people are more receptive to reading and sharing ideas. I would like to join the group so that I can develop longer lasting friendships and also so that I can contribute to any emerging concepts the the group may have planned.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

I enjoy meaningful discussions where I can learn from others however I also enjoy giving back to the community, helping others, and teaching whenever I can. I always keep a line open for members who have questions or who are trying to learn. I always try my best to be helpful and share knowledge on any topic that I am knowledgeable in.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I have maintained my activity both within the forum as well as within the private groups that I have been a part of since rejoining HackForums. I intend to maintain my activity and quite possibly devote more time to being active and contributing, especially with the upcoming features with the release of "The Game". I always commit myself to taking part in group activities and ensure that I contribute in any activity that I can.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

I consider myself to be a very proactive person as well as somebody who can manage their time effectively. I have a stellar track record with completing assigned tasks in a timely manner. In the event that I encounter something that I am not familiar with I have always been devoted to contacting people who I know are experienced in the subject or researching to learn more on a certain subject. I am confident that I would be able to complete any assigned task with a reasonable deadline.

scam. - December 30, 2018, 3:07 pm

(Dec 28, 2018 01:44 AM)Cara Delevingne Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wolfpack Official recruitment

- Lone wolves won't succeed without the pack -

The Wolf Pack is a group based on discussion. Coming together to give opinions & host open debates. Wolf Pack stays together and looks after its members. We are looking for the lone wild wolves to join the pack.

What are we looking for? Dedicated members willing to take part in discussions, open debates and willing to help group members whenever and however they can.

Member with the time to put the effort in. Activity will be monitored heavily and we are looking for members dedicated to giving time and effort.

Members who are willing to take on tasks and have deadlines set for projects.

Kind and caring members who will look after other group members. Answering questions able to give knowledge to other members.

Are you interested in joining the pack?
If you are interested in joining the group, please submit an application below answering the following questions.What are your intentions within the group?

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

There are 3 stages in this recruitment. This being stage 1. If you are accepted past stage 1, you will receive a personal message with stage 2 attached. We will not accept users through USER CP.

I wish everyone who takes part good luck. Anyone has a chance to join the pack. I look forward to seeing new members shortly.
Nerd

Cara Delevingne - December 30, 2018, 3:10 pm
(Dec 30, 2018 04:07 PM)mywifeleftme63 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nerd
No sir, you.

PerfectStorm - December 30, 2018, 3:10 pm
(Dec 30, 2018 04:03 PM).Elysium. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) =====
.Elysium's. Wolfpack Application

What are your intentions within the group?
I feel that groups are a tighter knit group of people and I enjoy socializing with a more common group. I also enjoy sharing information among people who I know have a common interest. This isn't something that is exclusive to groups however I know that the activity in groups is more focused and centric so people are more receptive to reading and sharing ideas. I would like to join the group so that I can develop longer lasting friendships and also so that I can contribute to any emerging concepts the the group may have planned.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?
I enjoy meaningful discussions where I can learn from others however I also enjoy giving back to the community, helping others, and teaching whenever I can. I always keep a line open for members who have questions or who are trying to learn. I always try my best to be helpful and share knowledge on any topic that I am knowledgeable in.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?
I have maintained my activity both within the forum as well as within the private groups that I have been a part of since rejoining HackForums. I intend to maintain my activity and quite possibly devote more time to being active and contributing, especially with the upcoming features with the release of "The Game". I always commit myself to taking part in group activities and ensure that I contribute in any activity that I can.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

I consider myself to be a very proactive person as well as somebody who can manage their time effectively. I have a stellar track record with completing assigned tasks in a timely manner. In the event that I encounter something that I am not familiar with I have always been devoted to contacting people who I know are experienced in the subject or researching to learn more on a certain subject. I am confident that I would be able to complete any assigned task with a reasonable deadline. I hope you get in. I def vouch for him.

Cara Delevingne - December 30, 2018, 4:13 pm

(Dec 30, 2018 04:10 PM)PerfectStorm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I hope you get in. I def vouch for him.

Vouchers do not earn brownie points for people applying, also checking some of these rn.

elterco - January 2, 2019, 2:48 pm

What are your intentions within the group?

I'll love to be in this group. I'll like to be in a good community where everybody supports each other, entangle discussions to open our minds and helps each other in different projects.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Yes, I can help in many areas of ecommerce. I have a degree on social communication. I can use graphic design tools. I'm always willing to help any fellow member. I've been using forums since 2001. I've been scammed a couple of times, help a lot of users and make interesting threads along that time.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Yes, I have plenty of time sitting on the PC because I have an online store. I'm online every day and almost every holiday.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Yes, of course. The intention is to help and grow the group. If I can help with anything, I'll be honored to do it.

Disease - January 2, 2019, 5:59 pm

What are your intentions within the group?

I've come across several of your members, and it seems to be a common trend that they're either asking good questions or providing good information. My goal on HF is to help people. As I explain more in-depth in the next question, the thing I enjoy most about spending time here on HF is getting involved in answering questions and helping fellow developers hone their skills. The group will an opportunity for me to meet more people and engage in conversations and projects that I will hopefully be able to leverage my skill set and experience with.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Absolutely; this is the easiest question out of the four for me to answer! If you take a look at my post activity, you'll see I am predominantly active in the various programming and technology sections. I'm most active there because I enjoy helping people. Had I not gone into tech, I almost certainly would've become a teacher. As a professional web developer with some 12 years of experience on the job, I've always felt that I can provide a different point of view on everyday questions and concerns.

As I said, my primary skillset is in programming. But I am an experienced system and database administrator and have been involved in commercial and enterprise IT over the years. And while I'd never insult real graphics designers by claiming to be one myself, I do dabble and can generally hold my own!

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I'm more active on HF than my posting may lead you to believe. Unfortunately, the sections I enjoy the most are just not so active anymore. Which means a lot of my time on HF is wasted, viewing forums that have no new posts or looking through threads in forums I'm unlikely to post in. So yeah, this will be no problem. It'll be nice to have another source of activity to tap into.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Yes- if I commit to something I follow through. I do client work for a living. In other words, everything I do is on a deadline. Knowing how long I need to complete something, and doing so, is something I do well.

SIM-3323508 - January 3, 2019, 4:24 pm

Applications look good so far guys keep up the good work!

MicroCode™ - January 4, 2019, 2:48 pm

What are your intentions within the group?

To contribute, and participate in various group activities. To be active and helpful. Basically looking for a home.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Yes. I am a web-site developer for more than 10 years now, with a large skill-set and experience, which puts me in a good position for helping other members.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I am currently making my living from home, working on different projects. I do have a lot of time available to be online and active.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Ofc, if the dead-line is reasonable.

I am also the sole developer behind: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5908109>

Cara Delevingne - January 4, 2019, 3:42 pm

I am going through applications again, recruitment will close on January 25th!

Snowwy - January 4, 2019, 6:59 pm

Make sure you guys apply. This is a great group to be apart of.

Haseo™ - January 4, 2019, 10:47 pm

Good luck to everyone that applies!

This is a really neat group.

xMannyG - January 5, 2019, 11:07 am

Good luck to anyone applying to this group, Cara is an awesome person and this group is HQ!

Cara Delevingne - January 6, 2019, 4:35 pm

I have sent out some stage 2 pms! Goodluck everyone.

Mom - January 6, 2019, 6:17 pm

Aftermarket's Application

What are your intentions within the group?

My intentions upon joining wolfpack are to be as active as possible, and being friendly with others, I kind of get a vibe from "The Order" (I used to be in it), not sure if this group is sort of based on that old group, but I definitely would love to join something like that again.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

I definitely see myself being a very helpful member of the Wolfpack. With helpful information that I know, and being as generous and helpful as I am, I am going to be very dedicated when I join this group in regards to helping members, and delivering helpful and useful information to any of their problems, or concerns. You cannot have a wolfpack unless you have family, and with family, you naturally try your best to help out members, give them advice that will be useful to not just themselves, but others can also benefit from the things that I know, and I hopefully can learn a thing or two while I am in this group (that is if I do get accepted). And we will as a wolfpack, grow and develop into something bigger and stronger.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Yes I do have a lot of time on my hands, I am home schooled and usually am on HF just browsing most of the time.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Of course! I recently started my online schooling program allowing me to have a lot more time on certain things, I can take longer breaks if I wish to, I can skip a day, and what not. I usually tend to set goals for myself all the time which then allows me to usually be on time with some work that is given to me, so I won't let anyone down if I have a certain role in this group basically counting on me for releasing information or having a news type of section like there was in "The Order".

hash - January 7, 2019, 12:50 am

[-----]

[-----]

What are your intentions within the group?

I see Wolf Pack as a group of high quality members. My intentions within this group is to maintain it's high quality status and look out for other members. I'm an active member in the groups in which I participate.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

In my daily life I work at a big IT company doing mostly enterprise related projects. Often making the transition from on-premise to the cloud. I think I can contribute my IT knowledge in cloud and architecture. Besides that I run a hotel on the side doing both marketing, finance and making sure it's always top-notch.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Absolutely yes. I'm most active on HF through the week since I am at work. In the weekend I'm mostly doing activities, visiting museums or going to a wine bar. I am an active member in multiple groups and enjoy making tutorials and helping other people.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?
If I say it's done in 2 days, it is.

Good luck selecting the right members. If you have any further questions, don't hesitate to ask!

Psilocybe - January 8, 2019, 2:42 pm

What are your intentions within the group?

I simply intend to make new friends, learn new skills and share the skills I have to offer with everybody who's apart of Wolfpack. I've recently become active all over the forums again and feel as if I have a lot to offer, especially to a community that I can proudly represent. Overall, I have nothing but positive intentions for the entire group and will actively participate in conversations, debates and group projects.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

I know myself to be an individual who seeks to help anybody, regardless of my knowledge on the topic. I possess a strong knowledge in many different branches of art such as graphic design, cinematography, illustration and more. I also have a lot to offer when it comes to science and mathematics, and I will have no problem helping somebody who simply wants to know more.

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

I have the time to be active daily in the forum and participate in group activities; I am very flexible in terms of time and can always move my schedule around to make time.

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

I'm very consistent when it comes to meeting deadlines. I'm confident in my ability to manage time well leading up to the due date, and even more confident in my ability to improvise if I've fallen behind.

Pikachu - January 12, 2019, 4:13 pm

What are your intentions within the group?

My intentions are to be apart of something great, and being able to help others and to make a difference in the community.

Do you see yourself as a helpful member willing to give helpful knowledge to members?

Yes, always, im always here to lend a helping hand, help out other members with whatever they may need. If anybody needs someone to talk to, im here to listen and hopefully give some advice based on personal experiences :)

Do you have time to dedicate yourself to posts and taking part in activities?

Definitely! I would love to help out with various group events and activities!

Would you be able to complete assigned tasks on time?

Yes of course, I will try my best to complete any given tasks on time, if for whatever reason i can't complete something on time, i will always let you know ahead of time, and ask for a possible extension.

Cyber - January 13, 2019, 10:37 am

Tell me this, if one is an omega how do they join a pack??

Cara Delevingne - January 14, 2019, 1:04 am

(Jan 13, 2019 11:37 AM)Cyber Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Tell me this, if one is an omega how do they join a pack??

They die alone and ego boosted

Cara Delevingne - January 20, 2019, 4:38 am

Thank you to everyone who applied and was accepted! Recruitment is closed for now :)