Thread: Subforums moved right

Marshmallow - January 4, 2019, 6:00 pm

Some subforums are in the middle of the box containing them and some are to the left (edit I was just tired they're all the same space apart)

Is this a bug or was it just changed?

It feels really odd.

mind giving some subforum examples to check them out or screenshot? looks alright for me.

Yep while on mobile all sub forums are shifted to the right.

In the middle of the page.

This just happened the other day.

This here is the problem as seen in the image above.

I have checked on two different mobile phones and the issue is still present on Both phones.

I made some adjustments to desktop version which effected mobile. I'll have Xerotic take a look asap. Just a CSS change.

Thanks Omni and Xerotic, keep up the great work.

Glad it's an easy fix.

This should be resolved now for mobile view (desktop view should already be fine).

If either gives you any problems please make sure to reload these two pages (or clear your cache
