Thread: [\[DISCOUNT TODAY\] \$150,000 A MONTH ON AUTOPILOT \(MINIMUM INVESTMENT\) | 100% SUCCESS](#)

I see so many get rich quick schemes on HF, and obviously it's a ton of crap. But I honestly wonder who buys it, and is it legal?

For example this thread : <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5911287>

This guy apparently makes $10,000 farming Runescape gold. Fine, it might be possible, but why would he take time making an ebook about how he does it and sell it for $29?

Quote:Many people dream about having the ability to simply wake up, do whatever the hell they want all day, and check to see that they've made hundreds of dollars throughout the entire day. I was once one of those people who dreamed about that, but it soon became a reality. So this guy wants to do absolutely nothing and make big bucks, and apparently he has achieved that. After this, he manually makes a 37+ page ebook of "high quality information" and proceeds to sell it for $15. Most if not all HF get rich quick schemes are similar to this one.

As for the legality, this comes under finance fraud.

This Wikipedia article has summed it up better than I ever will be able to so here it is : https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Get-rich-quick_scheme.

Here is how you can identify such a scam

Quote:Get-rich-quick schemes that operate entirely on the Internet usually promote "secret formulas" to affiliate marketing and affiliate advertising. The scheme will usually claim that it does not require any special IT or marketing skills and will provide an unrealistic timeframe in which the consumer could make hundreds of thousands, if not millions of dollars.

Overall, I don't think this should be allowed, forget about having a whole category dedicated to it.

Note : Because of the title, a lot of staff might be trolling but I assure you that this is not the case. If there is a problem with it, you can delete the thread.

Botting is banable as fuck atm in Runescape.

But yeah valid point.

Make free money by pasting a referral link into a pdf and then sending it to everyone you know!

At least the thread in the OP tells you what the "method" is upfront. I've seen a lot of ebooks that are poorly written and formatted describing idiotic scams. For example, there's one that suggests making SC accounts named after legit businesses, then trying to sell them the accounts.

Maybe I should start offering proofreading and typesetting services.

EDIT: I'm serious. Hit me up and I'll make your ebook look nice.

The sellers just are targeting new people to the niche of 'making money' the amount of fake vouches and reviews I see are funny ?

oh and also when I ask what the product is about they usually dont respond with a valid answer, just avoid the question as they know their method is public af
