If i can ask, why don't you make a twitch account and sub yourself with your subs?

Who said I didn't? I do use the subs myself but also offer them to members.

Also to add onto Quiet's reply even though I'm not a customer, you have to wait 45 days for a payment and it's nice getting money right away. On top of that you build your sales rep with customers and build trust. It's really a win win on top of giving subs to himself too.
