Due to the legalities, you're going to need to set this up yourself; you won't be able to use a free platform. You'll just be booted off the service if you violate their TOS.

So what you're looking for is a hosting provider that will allow this content. From there, you have some great options. WordPress+WooCommerce is incredibly popular. Magento is also a solid option.

Accepting BTC is just a matter of setting up the right payment processor.

Thank, already did that haha. Just never worked with wordpress so much so that's a pain.
