Hello,

I've just stumbled upon HackForums, and figured the best place to start would be with introductions.

So hello there, I'm really an open book. I love to shitpost on reddit, get drunk on the weekends, and probably most of all jack around with code segments. I haven't really touched up on any Integrated Development Environment's in a very long while, so I guess I'll start in the forums learning about code.

Anywho, a warm hello to anyone who manages to bite on my thread.

Thank you, I look forward to making new acquaintances.

NOTE: I'm generally not very social, and I'll probably wind up a lurker if I have nothing to contribute.
