Thats right, this is my 1000th post here.

I dont remember how i found this forum and what was the purpose of my registration.

I started to understand that was hard to find good methods cause its needed money to generate more money and I didnt have any since I was unemployed at the time.

I got L33t and people started to treat me with more respect but when I got the last ub3r that was the real move.

I discovered many methods here is already saturared or bullshit but here there is real methods, I finally got one that make me money, real money and Im grateful to the day I joined here.

Now I have money and I dont have much time to be here but soon as I reach my financial independence I will help others like others really helped me here.

Thanks HF for all.
