Thread: driving a fucking 2019 650HP vet out in the fucking desert boys

swavy - January 20, 2019, 9:24 pm out in Arizona for the barretjacket auction that ended earlier today we just came back to the condo but holy fuck we were out in the middle of the desert doing donuts in vets so much fucking fun

i doubt any of you give a shit but it amazes me that people can buy these cars and drive them normally the ones we have got slicks on them so they spin all over but like holy fuck u touch the gas and it goes into a full spin fish tailing everywhere

I topped out at 185 MPH getting on the highway if I got pulled over lmao 18 years old probably would have lost my license i can't even describe how loud these things are just being stock

Haha yeah I was at the pavilions last night and it was so fucking packed, it was insane. Saw some cars I haven't seen before.

There was an r33 gtst, the first one in Arizona, was also at pavs.

Thats gnarly. I don't really have like $80 to spend for an entry to barret jackson, but I heard it was dope. The supra sold for like 2 million also, in fucking sane.

Haha man I wish.

Only downside is that my camera couldn't auto focus, had to manual focus every picture, sadly.

But that's dope man!

yeah the entire thing was amazing the people I met man unreal

I've never understood how rich some of these guys are until ur at dinner and some mfer straight up pulls 20 grand out of his pocket like "I got it" the group I was with would bid eachother up as a joke like hahaha real funny u just cost homeboy an extra 40 grand Yeah that's insane.

Like I said I was at pavs last night, and there was an LC500 Lexus that pulled up, a blue one, and it was an older guy driving. I went to talk to him, complemented him on his car, and I asked what his occupation is, he told me "nothing". Biggest dick ever.

But then I talked with a MKIV supra owner, he told me everything about him being the first and original owner, ownership for 25 years, mods, and shit from his past.

Just comes to show how different car people are to any other person.

oh yeah man just sitting up there in those box seats next to the rich ass old white guys they're all racist as fuck and everything they say is degrading towards women rich old white guys man...

u can totally tell that the barret team is the same there was not a single black barretjackson team member they totally know that the people with money don't want a black guy around their cars there's no way it's a coincidence that out of those 500 employees not a single one of them was anything besides 100% white

I was up there everyday for like 8 hours a day so there's lots of downtime and questioning about what I'm doing with my life ect (being 18 - I also look 14).

the first thing they would say is "lol kid don't u have schoolahaha" no idiot but ok then they would be like "o so ur in college" no not going to college "soooo what are u doing" then I would go on about future plans ect and just everyone has their own little comment to make which I mean I respect it these guys are assholes but they're not idiots they're rich as fuck for a reason they all own nutty businesses but yeah I explained my future like 30 times they were like yeah I like it it sounds good BUT....

Mom - January 20, 2019, 10:31 pm

Yea lol. I'm only (age, won't say) lol but I understand you man.

I sure as hell know that I'm not like that, lol. But yeah, it's kind of stupid that people are doing this shit and ruining it for those actual enthusiasts.

That definitely must've been pretty amazing if you got the chance to do that.
