Thread: Is CS:GO still worth playing after F2P?

Dark - January 23, 2019, 7:47 pm

I heard the game was even more riddled with hackers shortly after the release of F2P. Has this gone down at all since the release of free-2-play, or are we all still stuck in spin-bot solo queues for a while?

PingersAndMash - January 23, 2019, 9:01 pm

No it's not something playing

Spinbot queues always. Just get ESEA or FaceIT if you want to try enjoying the game.

Prime could help but not as much, you just meet subtle cheaters.

Spinbots are a meme right now, with a decent triggerbot you're able to take down them easily after they patched the old fake angle method.

However, if you expect to never meet a cheater, especially with a fresh acc or with a garbage trust factor, you're wrong.

If you got a good account, with a good trust factor, you can still enjoy the game on prime games.

I've never met a blatant cheater with my main.

I'm closet cheating most of the time, so I guess that someone has time to spend on improving skills/game knowledge can still enjoy the game.

On ESEA and FaceIT you still meet cheaters, indeed less than MM, but still you're paying for it. In the end, prime before the F2P update wasn't so much different from now.

If you have a decent trust factor MM is playable (you'll get closet cheaters every once in a while).

If not try to play on FaceIT or ESEA.

The game was 50/50 on having a cheater on the enemy team at the beginning of F2P. No idea how bad it is now, +point: most of the cheaters in the lower ranks don't know how to cheat lol.

With prime and a good trust factor you can play it like before. Blackout mode is fun to play as well. I mostly play wingman

But if you get reported all the time for hitting shots won't give you a better TF. So good players will stay with low TF -> playing mainly with cheater or toxic dumbf...., I enjoyed the game long enough, it's shit and they aren't able to get the majority of the players back.

I honestly haven't noticed a difference OP and I have awful Trust Factor, so if you have good Trust Factor the game will probably be more fun than ever.

I've received notice that three different people were banned this week as a result of submitted reports. At this point, I rarely encounter cheating, but I do have Prime and good standing otherwise.

Yeah, I have shit trust factor and the game is still somewhat enjoyable. I bet people who have a super good trust factor have the most fun since their queues are probably 1/10 people cheating every other game.
