I suggest to avoid making deals with this guy, bought bytes from him the scratch day but I didn't make contract (regreting now) and he refuse to refund and since there is no contract I can't do nothing.

User profile:

Staff had said anyone who sold bytes "that day" should refund the money, well he didn't.

SO with few words, AVOID making deals with him without contract, he will take advantage, I didn't used because I thought it doesn't worth for just 10$ fast deal, from now on even for 1$ i will make without exceptions.

Since I can't make Deal Dispute without contract, I make this Community Alert to warn you to avoid dealing with him atleast without contract, and don't go first.

EDIT:

There are other people before me:

He should have done the honest thing and told you the real price in the first place. I was selling at $10/50k. Thanks for letting everyone know.

No the 50k price was after, that moment people were selling for 20k

edit:

Then I learned it was worth 20k from here:

it's sad that you didn't go with a contract, but a community alert is still good enough hopefully.

Lavish Living - January 25, 2019, 12:11 pm

I bought 110k for $15 from him

He said he'll refund soon. I guess if I don't get it in like <48hrs I'll make the deal dispute and get his account closed lol

Over $15!! :p sad days

Always. Never do ANY deals without a contract! That's like buying something and not keeping the receipt, foolish.

Then you will be fine (if you are the only customer he sold I dont think he will risk to get closed for just 15$), I was stupid enough to not make, without deal dispute he take advantage of it, atleast I can warn people with community alert.

In begin he said that would refund me at 23 of the month, today is 25 and he doesn't even reply to PMs.

I was going to refund you but then again spamming isn't going to help it. You should be happy that i was willing to refund you.

These are all the PM's for anyone wondering.

1: <https://gyazo.com/c500796d968018a2e350951c29d90000>

I send him this message back that I want to refund him:

Then I receive this threatening message back since he really thinks he has all the powers right now without a contract lol:

I send him this back that I do not appreciate the way he is sending me messages:

Geass - January 25, 2019, 2:22 pm

@Painvin sure you would refund me thats why so many days passed.

FYI i did PM to omni asking about this he said contract is necessary thats why I open community alert instead to warn people, there are people before me saying exact same thing link in original post.

Thing is I bought from you bytes and you take advantage I can't open deal dispute since there is no contract, not to mention you TRICKED ME when people were selling 20k you tried to sell me 2k, NOT EVEN CLOSE, did you expect hugs and love?

SO AT THE END you admit it or no I was scammed by you without contract to be able opening deal dispute, you know very well if it existed you would refund without issues if I had open DD

SO I ASK YOU, DID YOU SCAM ME? DO YOU HAVE MY MONEY?
asnwer with a "yes" or "no"

edit: haha you look at thread but you don't respond, damn scammer.

Sadly no he didn't, still has my money, but I got a lot of free time, if I see him selling something, first post will be mine with link of this thread.

Will warn people before dealing with him to make sure no more victims ?

hmm, you got a point.

If I post something like " I suggest to check user before dealing, search his profile user ID, just advise :) "

This would be consider sales trashing? ?

He start selling product:

you still got the money you scammed me, kid.
and for $1000 you will find your way.

edit: it is funny when I mention my stolen money you stop talking, and you start when the subject is different.

goldpill - February 4, 2019, 5:39 pm

It's quite disturbing to see you think like this, there are a lot of sick people on here, all in the name of hacking. You collect someone's money and call him little kid, when you were collecting payment, you should have refused the little kid's money. It will be difficult to trust a transaction with you, with the level of ingenuity already show. It is hard to trust you have what you say you do, as none of the questions raised have had an answer, other than a vague by someone claiming to be the author refusing to give answers in public, and a vouch from you who has a $10 issue you are unable to resolve.

if you crying over 15 bucks rethink your life

Hope you get it sorted OP.

I am good enough to make sure warn people he is thief, he sell at this moment for $1k a application that doesn't even work to scam exit, I got 0 knowledge about the exploit so I don't say much about this, but other people who know very well answered on his thread.

I also sold to other people bytes that day and they received refund by me, what am I? stupid? , scam is scam, he got my money, omni said himself anyone who sold bytes should refund since it was really broken the bytes system that day, I just didn't used contract and Painvin decide to steal me, thats all.

Playboy - February 5, 2019, 9:01 am

It's a shame and if I could do something on my part I would OP. Fortunately it was only for $10, though that's not the point. Point is it's a shame when someone uses their reputation to take advantage of somebody else. Hopefully this will get resolved and I wish you nothing but the best.
