Found this posted by the Libertarian Party of Michigan. Figured it was too good not to share, and a shame how we miss out on so much because mainstream media gets swarmed with non-news.

1. Federal Court Rules Police May Not Compel Passenger ID During Traffic Stop.
2. ACLU Sues Seven Federal Agencies After Failure to Disclose Social Media Monitoring Data.
3. Court Rules 'Ag-Gag' Law Criminalizing Undercover Reporting Violates the First Amendment.
4. DOJ exploring ways to more easily spy on journalists.
5. Yellow Vest Movement Has Officially Gone Global.
6. "Below 1%": The Monarch Butterfly Is Approaching Total and Irreversible Extinction.
7. The Brazen Detention of Marzieh Hashemi, America's Newest Political Prisoner.

Priority media ey?

I see it so frequently, which is why I seek so many sources of news rather than just a few

That would be a fantastic idea! If only it could be immune from insertion of human created algorithms that favor their preferences.

Unfortunately it would need that sort of data in order to work, data that would first consist of some sort of preference.

And to make it Immune just use a Diffie Hellman Ratchet like WhatsApp do for encryption, after the decision is made, the key is regenerated. That way the chain could never be broken and if they broke a link in the chain, the decision has already been made, the link can be verified by other chains
