Thread: [\[OFFICIAL\] SECRECY RECRUITMENT V3 - STUDENT SYSTEM - WORKING WITH SAMARITANS](#)

Pronouncer - January 29, 2019, 11:51 am

Introduction

Thank you for clicking on the thread. It has been a while since Secrecy has been around. We have just partnered up with Samaritans to bring you the revival of Secrecy. We have seen over 200 students come in and out of our previous student systems. Written our own book for members to learn from. So its a nice feeling to be able to bring it back. Thank you to Bowman & Divined for allowing us to use their subforum.

Rules

We aim to be laid back and just get stuff done however we have to put in a few rules

You may not use the Samaritans Sub Forum, only the subsection of the sub forum.

Memberships are purely at the leaders discretion.

All HF rules apply here

Requests for inactivity must be told in advance.

Webserver and website security, ddos prevention and attacking (SQLi, XSS, code injection & more)

Project Management Skills

Coding and Programming

Server Management and Administration

Not all skills can be listed because of time consumption and security reasons

Interested in Student System: Yes, it sounds like an interesting system. It promotes knowledge and challenges people to discover. Exactly what I'm aiming for these days.

Previous Groups: This would be my first group on HF due to my recent arrival to the forums.

Why would you fit in with us: This is a very difficult question to answer as I do not know the dynamics of the group; I might be respected/liked by other members for simply being someone who loves to help others or I might be loved by the members for being someone who is highly social. I could be liked by others down the line for releasing useful programs such as rats, crypters, etc after I've mastered programming. Different people have different reasons.

Previous Contributions: Due to being new I have not contributed with giveaways, tutorials or guides yet especially since I am currently learning myself but I have answered plenty of beginner questions and helped or at least pointed dozens of people to the right direction. This shows my willingness to be a part of the community, promoting a positive sharing environment and hunger accomplishments - I want others to succeed too.

Skillset: Network Security, Capture The Flag experience (VulnHub/HackTheBox), Python.

Intrested in Student System: Potentially, however I'm currently doing my BSc in Cyber Security (unsure if I can properly dedicate to the student system).

Previous Groups: None

Why would you fit in with us: I am interested in networking, NetSec and wireless security. I am eager to learn about any and all facets of InfoSec, as I'm hoping to move into the security industry (penetration testing / red teaming) once I've completed my degree along with other prerequisites. As of now, I can offer Secrecy my full collection of PDFs (Networking, AppSec, Forensics, Programming and more) along with my willingness to assist other members as well as HF as a whole while representing the group.

Best of luck with your group man. ?

MatiasMunk - March 2, 2019, 5:40 pm

UID:
442563

Skillset:

Game development in C and C++ for quite some years now, so I have a firm understanding of I/O and computer logics, basic algorithms, and a limited scope of networking too. With that being said, I also get to know my way around Linux, as of a result from programming.

At the moment I'm studying networking as hard as I can for developing networked games through a client/server connection. I plan to use that experience on a vast variety of other fields of programming. Game development has been my gateway into hacking, first learning about the existence of cracks, hooks, and other cool things :)

Some webdev, but not the best.

Interested in Student System:

Very much so.

Previous Groups:

I haven't been in any group during my years at Hackforums, unfortunately.

Why would you fit in with us:

My enthusiasm for computers and how the systems work, especially game development, has really sparked an interest in various of other fields of programming. I am eager to learn, hungry to learn, especially networking (traffic, observing and analyzing packets, sockets)

Previous Contributions:

I have not contributed anything noteworthy in my years on HF, sadly. But I plan on completely changing that, I see an opportunity to learn with your group.

Skillset: Cryptocurrency, I work as a IT engineer so general network knowledge ,windows server and company software solutions like Citrix, VEEAM are known to me ranging from middle to enterprise level, Photoshop, E-Commerce.

Intrested in Student System: Maybe

Previous Groups: None

Why would you fit in with us: I applied for Samaritans which took my interest, then you contacted me and I thought Secrecy would be cool to.

Previous Contributions: Some things I did in the past what pops up in my mind was wrote a VeraCrypt guide, helped people with WH help but honestly to much to mention, been around since 2010.
