if you plan to rebrand comedy accounts and stuff like that to your closing brand, you will lose 99% of your engagement. You're taking niches that effect nearly everyone and only are going to be able to sell to 0.1-2% of the current followers most likely. I would suggest trying to have a clothing/streetwear/aesthetic related network first

All my accounts are either girls wearing logos or depression quotes. This one is quotes, not so much depressionish but still will work.

I'm paying hundreds for these accounts, not thousands. Only like 30 of 100k people from each account need to buy a shirt to pay for the expense.

And if 0.2% bought a $40 hoodie I would make 16 million. Trust me it won't be anywhere near 0.2. (The rebrand will be 10-20 100ks being merged to 1 account, ideally 2M total followers.)
