Have anyone here done some betting on CSGO matches?
What's your experience?

We did a guide on the topic, feel free to check it out:

I do like Rivalry or Betway, reason I use both is because Rivalry had some countries that I couldn't pay with my Visa, you should add this to the guide. But the guide seems legit. Good job ?

GG.BET is my go-to when I decide to place a bet on CSGO eSports. I don't do this often though, only on major events.

Have lost a fair amount by betting on low tier teams.

Thanks for your reply, what made you go with GG.bet? Have you tried out any other sites?

I go with csgoatse, easy deposit, also i can sell their coins in a community, so it is smooth for me. I have about 95% winrate on match betting

It was a random choice. I'm used to their system and site that anything else looks unfamiliar by now.

The fact that a percentage of the winnings is going to the teams is nice as well.

Unibet, recommend only betting on big events, lots of fixed in the scene

Oh, Do you have any source? I'm not saying it's not fixed or anything, would just like to read up on it.

Chromic00 - August 11, 2019, 5:00 am

A google search is enough and if you are really into the scene some matches become very obvious.
