Do you think staff will move it in the future?

Jombah - February 5, 2019, 8:49 pm

Can't vouch for his writing skills, but can definitely vouch for his plagiarizing skills! How are your copy pasting skills any better than mine?

A very large red flag to me is how poor the grammar in the thread design is, yet his articles are much better.

Beware of who you proxy sell for. Them screwing up might get you closed as well along with them, since this is your thread.

How does it makes a sense calling a small sentence being similar as a plagiarized content ?

"How does it makes a sense calling a small sentence being similar as a plagiarized content ?"

Compare this sentence with anything in your articles. Then compare the writing in your thread design with your articles. It's very clear you're copying just about everything you write in "your" articles. There is a very large difference in these samples of writing and it's extremely clear that you're not writing your own content.

Please let me know if you could find some plagiarized content on my other articles too.
