So what's the longest time Paypal took to process your withdrawal funds?

For me It's been 6 days and mine is still not showing up on my bank lol and my second withdrawal is pending..

J.P.Belmondo - February 8, 2019, 8:45 am

For me its always max 2 business days. Once ive got the bank transfer in 1 day.

FakeAltAcc - February 8, 2019, 8:51 am

I remember the first time I ever withdrew it took a while, it's never taken that long since then

Mine comes in 1 business day 95% of the time.

JoshAllen - February 8, 2019, 8:57 am

Longest it has taken to wait for a withdrawal on their side was 3 days.

When the withdrawal goes through on their side, it takes me 24 hours max to get it.

There isn't an in between.

Dotexe - February 8, 2019, 10:55 am

Depends on the funds. For $100-200 it took me like one or two days to withdraw

Zan - February 9, 2019, 12:13 am

Usually it takes 2 business days for me.

Slankey™ - February 9, 2019, 12:14 am

Op clearly spent the money already and didn't realize it

Bank withdraws suck on PayPal, do not use them. Just hook your debit card it will be instant for a small ass 1 percent fee.

Playboy - February 9, 2019, 5:06 am

I remember a long time ago my account was limited with a little over a grand in it. It took their sweet time of half a year to get those funds, I consider PayPal fraud and will never ever use them again.

Xycon - February 9, 2019, 6:24 am

If I ever am forced to use PayPal for something as there is no other way, I just add the exact amount of money to PayPal manually, takes no more than 3 minutes.

overdue - February 9, 2019, 6:25 am

Usually takes one day for it to show up in my bank account.
The max has been 3 days.

HOMODIN - February 9, 2019, 6:28 am

Longest has been 3 days but that was over a weekend and the fastest took no more than 6 hours which was amazing.

Context - February 9, 2019, 6:53 am

From my business account (the only account I have that accrues balance), I have the funds in my bank the following business day. Seldom do I experience any delays.
