Thread: Felt really bad after I e-whored this guy

zoh - February 9, 2019, 12:52 am

For the first time I felt bad e-whoring someone after he told me he was visually impaired and he's living off govt income.

Have you guys ever had such encounters?

Well he shouldn't be spending my tax money on pictures of females.

That's one way to look at it.. lol

But his life was pretty sad. He couldn't work and all.

Because if i was helpless I would probably be doing some type of the same shit. I am addicted to the female body. I mean shit if your impaired and can't do anything mine as well at least chat it up online!

Scaletta - February 9, 2019, 2:48 am

You were just put in a bad situation. If you felt bad and left the chat, he would get lonely and possibly depressed. If you continued to chat with him, his lonely ass would catch feelings for you.

What you did as morally wrong but I'm guessing he really didn't care about the pictures but actually rather just wanted to talk to a girl because IRL i'm guessing not a lot of girls probably interact with him.

Chat with him for a bit. And may be help him get a real girl. You won't regret it then.

Effexion - February 9, 2019, 3:53 am

But you still ewhored him so can't have felt that bad. I'm guessing it wouldn't be hard to ewhre a visually impaired man. Proof would be a doddle.

smokedowt1 - February 9, 2019, 3:57 am how much even was it lol was it over 100?

Shaggy - February 9, 2019, 4:05 am

You really should return the money. Have a helping hand to a fellow bro's who is already weak in the first place

PerfectStorm - February 9, 2019, 4:07 am

Well, find something morally light to make money

deon - February 9, 2019, 4:30 am

Pretty much anybody that gives money for naked pics to some anonymous chick on the internet, has a sad life.

Hope you didn't take him for too much. You might consider giving it back, or using the money for something good.
