

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Business blueprint price gauge

Bear - February 11, 2019, 3:49 am

If there is an actual working business blueprint which could generate you approx $1-3k a day, can be scaled up obviously, how much would someone pay for it? Wont be an ebook, nor will it wont be a mentorship, but a legit business blueprint. A little bit grey hat but no risk involved at any cost nor any laws being broken.

I am not talking about the usual paxful gift carding, selling adobe products, SMM/SEO, trade this for that bullshit public methods. Only a handful, say 5-6 people will be brought on board with a buy in, and then you decide how you want to go ahead with the blueprint, which you will be a part of.

Remember, I am not selling any blueprints, nor any ebooks/methods. Just gauging the market to see if there are people who are willing to get on with something of high value.

Thanks

webdev77 - February 11, 2019, 4:02 am

Personally I call bullshit that anything like this even exists unless it's just some generic advice saying don't be stupid and actually know how to run a business. I would not be a customer and would never recommend anyone buy such a thing.

Bear - February 11, 2019, 4:09 am

(Feb 11, 2019 05:02 AM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Personally I call bullshit that anything like this even exists unless it's just some generic advice saying don't be stupid and actually know how to run a business. I would not be a customer and would never recommend anyone buy such a thing.

Maybe coz you're on hackforums that's why you call bullshit because this place is riddled with recycled methods by multi account owners but there are businesses which generate revenues upwards of millions per qt. I have no problem showing proof and even the blueprint to any interested parties as long as they show me that they have the capital to go in.

Irrespective, thanks for your input, I really appreciate it.

LoveOverFear - February 11, 2019, 4:14 am

I think there are people willing to kill for that type of thing but most of the people here have no investment in general and don't even know where t start to make money unless it's at their 9-5 spot.

But I think these type of methods do exist, it's just about knowing and talking to the right people with the correct mindset.

Artisan - February 12, 2019, 3:44 am

(Feb 11, 2019 04:49 AM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If there is an actual working business blueprint which could generate you approx $1-3k a day, can be scaled up obviously, how much would someone pay for it? Wont be an ebook, nor will it wont be a mentorship, but a legit business blueprint. A little bit grey hat but no risk involved at any cost nor any laws being broken.

I am not talking about the usual paxful gift carding, selling adobe products, SMM/SEO, trade this for that bullshit public methods. Only a handful, say 5-6 people will be brought on board with a buy in, and then you decide how you want to go ahead with the blueprint, which you will be a part of.

Remember, I am not selling any blueprints, nor any ebooks/methods. Just gauging the market to see if there are people who are willing to get on with something of high value.

Thanks

If theres a spot left then you know where to find me ?

Deal - February 12, 2019, 3:57 am

Don't understand why one with knowledge on how to make 3K a day would want to sell anything on a hackerforum.

Sorry man but that's the truth.

Bear - February 12, 2019, 6:01 am

(Feb 12, 2019 04:57 AM)Deal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Don't understand why one with knowledge on how to make 3K a day would want to sell anything on a hackerforum.

Sorry man but that's the truth.

Read the OP, not selling anything. Title says it, gauging the market. From the response so far, I guess it's not of any interest here at all.

James Burnham - February 12, 2019, 6:20 am

Depends on how unique it is and how obvious it is that it works.

Capn_N3m0 - February 12, 2019, 1:03 pm

(Feb 11, 2019 05:09 AM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) show me that they have the capital to go in.

This is a big part of the issue. Startup capital vs operating costs, vs earned revenues is a big thing. Not sure if the numbers you're throwing around are daily revenues or daily profits; but either way, the startup capital for numbers like that is generally more than most americans make in a year--at least for any kind of legitimate business.

Bear - February 12, 2019, 1:04 pm

(Feb 12, 2019 02:03 PM)Capn_N3m0 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is a big part of the issue. Startup capital vs operating costs, vs earned revenues is a big thing. Not sure if the numbers you're throwing around are daily revenues or daily profits; but either way, the startup capital for numbers like that is generally more than most americans make in a year--at least for any kind of legitimate business.

Yes the numbers I'm throwing out are daily profits. Yes that's way above the average income in America.

Capn_N3m0 - February 12, 2019, 1:13 pm

(Feb 12, 2019 02:04 PM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes the numbers I'm throwing out are daily profits. Yes that's way above the average income in America.

So you're talking about a business that, by most normal means, should cost at least 6 figures in startup capital, unless you've got a fabulous set of tits and a webcam.

Bear - February 12, 2019, 1:21 pm

(Feb 12, 2019 02:13 PM)Capn_N3m0 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So you're talking about a business that, by most normal means, should cost at least 6 figures in startup capital, unless you've got a fabulous set of tits and a webcam.

Could be a higher 5 figure to start up. 6 figures would be ridiculous.

Proxima - February 12, 2019, 1:27 pm

If there's literally any possibility of saturation or partner abuse, why wouldn't you just keep it all to yourself and capitalize? Would you really risk an opportunity like this?

I don't see a reason why you couldn't sell it here, but why would you? I'm not saying it isn't possible or that you shouldn't attempt to do so. Without more information, it's a bit difficult to give you a solid opinion on this.

Capn_N3m0 - February 12, 2019, 1:35 pm

(Feb 12, 2019 02:21 PM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Could be a higher 5 figure to start up. 6 figures would be ridiculous.

Well that depends all on what it is, and you haven't said.

I'm just remembering some of the research I've done in the past on buying a working business talking about that kind of profitability.