Thread: I made a sad rap song

Sonata - February 11, 2019, 8:06 am

Hey all,

Just released a sad rap song:

Let me know what you guys think!

Do you guys like rap?

Any advice? :)

Edit: I made the beat, did the vocals, and mixed/mastered it - on Spotify and stores if you guys fw it

JustBuying - February 11, 2019, 11:35 am

Sounds nice, you have some talent.

Omniscient - February 11, 2019, 1:18 pm

FYI we have Soundcloud MyCode working again.

As for the music. It was okay. Not really my style but certainly it's not rap or hop hop either.

Good enough to share btw..

King - February 11, 2019, 1:21 pm

I like your style and the lyrics, good job mate!

I've listened to some of your songs before when you've posted about them and I do quite like them - it makes a change considering I don't typically like this type of music.

You have serious talent and skill and I hope it can take you somewhere because you deserve to be big with songs like this. Keep it up!

That really does mean a lot bro, thank you. Hopefully you will like the next song more :)

TouchMe - February 11, 2019, 3:15 pm

I may or may not have jerked off to this song

Tbh I like it, but I think you should autotune your voice less

Soulmate~?? - February 11, 2019, 3:25 pm

Sounds kind of like blackbear or gnash, not really my style but not a bad song overall imo

Velma - February 11, 2019, 3:31 pm

Not my type of music but i liked this one i dont know what it is, must be the beat and not some crazy voice on the mic.

very little autotune on this but yeah true, it just makes singing so much easier Imfao

Cunt - February 13, 2019, 1:04 am

Another great song from SadGods.

You keep getting better man. Still bumping Like Autumn and Sometimes ;)

reci - February 13, 2019, 4:46 am

you sidechained your voice its distracting

Sounds pretty good imo. Continue with stuff like that!

LoveOverFear - February 13, 2019, 11:58 am

Need to tune your voice better, needs more Auto-Tune. The beat is pretty good also.

RNM Group - February 13, 2019, 11:58 am

Interesting, someone else mentioned that there was too much autotune. If you are referring to staying in key as opposed to autotune, it was in key, and, the vocal fluctuations were a stylistic choice. Thanks for the feedback though bro, good looks thank you so much!

I mean there was but what i meant was the voice didn't sound good from an aspect that it's not really it, with all due respect of course. I also have a pretty bad voice myself on the mic or any type of recordings thats why i just produce for now.

What Auto-Tune vst did you use? mind i ask.

Antares on this song.

What does this mean? "from an aspect that it's not really it"

Also, I'm sorry you have a bad voice, but saying "also" is a bit rude - I think the amount of plays I get on my music should say something.

I'm open to criticism and feedback, but when you don't like a stylistic choice, I would prefer you don't comment.

That said - I don't think i'm a super talented vocalist, however, I do know what I am doing.

Yeah of course but that's just my opinion, it's not fact. Just don't take my word for it.

When I first heard X, I actually thought his voice sucked also, guess it has to grow on me.

Got any connections to people in the music industry?

You produce and rap?? Like a J. Cole x Travis Scott?

Hmm

Absoutly no connections to anyone already established, however, as I started "sadgods", my irl friend vaboh also just began "vaboh" and we did a song together. He's not huge but he definetly helped me get views back then. All of the rest of my promotion "connections" are people who voluntarily post my content.

And yeah, rap, a little singing, and production. On some tracks, I get help from someone for mixing, or I use someone else's beat, however, "I Don't Mind U" was all done by me.

Would be cool if someone here knew someone established but I guess that's not possible yet.

I produced myself, i can rap but need a good mic, Antares Auto-Tune Pro OR Waves Tune Real-Time and a good Audio Driver.

Singing i haven't tried but maybe one day, ionno lol.

I'll check your music thoroughly maybe, might be interested, numbers look consistent.

But like do you feel safe promoting your music here and socials? Man i get thrown off here if i showed my work, maybe cause i got scammed so many times here lol.

Good luck though on your journey, see you at the top? maybe ?
