What is something you are obsessed with? It can be anything.

I've found myself craving one of these almost every day;

What about you?

Bacardi Cola Lime - February 13, 2019, 5:17 am

The only two things I can't do without and I have constant cravings are Caffeine and Nicotine. Yeah I can live without food but take my coffee, you better take my life too.

You know what, this thing has helped me in the past to fight nicotine cravings;

It's something like worry beads.

Video games and cardio, specifically running. I really should drop videogames as a whole as it negatively impacts my life, but it's super hard.

League of Legends/ RuneScape / Xbox as a whole.

League of Legends used to put me in such a shitty mood and I'd turn it onto my girlfriend at one point (she hated me being loud). Disgusting behavior on my part, but deep down I have a passion for these pointless games.

Aye would you believe me if she actually felt the same about me? cause actually threw out that whole fiasco she was giving me signs to make the first move but like a dumbass, I didn't do anything... At that time i was lost trying to find myself and now that i did, I'm sooo far away from her that it would be a mission in trying to get back even in her city.

But the feeling doesn't fade so i guess i it's still trying to tell me something, maybe.

I actually messaged her on IG like 2 months ago, and she didn't respond to me, just viewed the messages... not one-word lmao

BUT

I can say ever since i sent her that message she's been way more active on IG, I'm not even kidding.

B4 i sent her that message, she hardly posted like once every 2 months and barely used the story function,

Now? She posts almost every day and is on her Stories all the time.

I would say i put the battery on her back so to speak but i know at this point she's just playing the hard to get type girl since she kissed me on my neck the last time we ever seen each other, cause for me its too much of a coincidence for her to do all this after i sent her that message.

I love her though and i can't get over the fact either :/

Kinda feel like a sucker tho cause i'm falling for all her little games lmao ?

Always keep a reliable commuter in addition to a fun car like a Porsche. They're awesome but the maintenance and upkeep will run your ass broke. When the time comes, if you need ideas or help picking something don't hesitate to get in contact. I love that stuff.

He's only juvenile and won't grow over 8". I also have a goliath (12" leg span when mature) but she's also a juvi. New world tarantulas don't pack much of a punch with their bite, it's the old worlds you need to worry about and I only have one of them.

a girl that actually loves me is something that makes me happy but in the long run that always ends up causing more pain than happiness and love combined.

so the only other thing left that makes me happy is a lot of money...

exactly bro imagine worrying how to pay your bills and rent and shit like that all the time until you die. going to work worrying if your gf/wife is fuckin someone else while you are not at home for 8 hours or more and shit like that. all of that can not possibly be happiness. if you had a lot of money, not only you wouldn't need to worry about shit like that, but you would also be able to do what YOU fuckin want, something that makes YOU happy - so how does money not fuckin buy happiness? think about it
