

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Suggestion\] Post rating](#)

Playboy - February 13, 2019, 7:16 am

A suggestion that could be very useful if implicated would be the ability to rate someone on their posting habits. It would be similar to the popularity rating, but it would tell others if you are of the highest quality or the lowest of quality.

A box at the bottom of each post that would read "Rate post."

This way if someone is a known spammer or lowest of quality one could choose to simply disregard what the user had posted. (Ability to hide posts)

Let me know what you guys think, thanks!

(Feb 13, 2019 08:58 AM)Sour Blood Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What about a like button, if you were very helpful I'd hit the like button and a list of names would appear at the bottom of the post.

Cryptic™ - February 13, 2019, 7:49 am

Your asking for something like Reddit's upvote system. Suggested multiple times in the past, it won't happen.

If you think a user posts are consistently trash just add them to your ignore list.

If you like a post, donate bytes to them which in turn will motivate them to keep pushing out good content.

Playboy - February 13, 2019, 7:58 am

(Feb 13, 2019 08:49 AM)Cryptic™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Your asking for something like Reddit's upvote system. Suggested multiple times in the past, it won't happen.

If you think a user posts are consistently trash just add them to your ignore list.

If you like a post, donate bytes to them which in turn will motivate them to keep pushing out good content. What about a like button, if you were very helpful I'd hit the like button and a list of names would appear at the bottom of the post.

Mr. Robot - February 14, 2019, 11:54 pm

(Feb 13, 2019 09:02 AM)James! Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) implicate (verb): to show that someone is involved in a crime or partly responsible for something bad that has happened.

Anyway, this is a bad idea and won't be happening.

I think the word he was searching for was implemented.

Playboy - February 14, 2019, 11:55 pm

Let's stay on topic please and thank you.

Deal - February 15, 2019, 12:04 am

With all the gang rating I wouldn't want to see this happen.

As for the like button, people wouldn't give a damn about the content. They'd like their friends posts and people that they ass lick. They would also like all posts in order to get likes back as we see on several social media.

Playboy - February 15, 2019, 12:09 am

(Feb 15, 2019 01:04 AM)Deal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) With all the gang rating I wouldn't want to see this happen.

As for the like button, people wouldn't give a damn about the content. They'd like their friends posts and people that they ass lick. They would also like all posts in order to get likes back as we see on several social media. You make good points of which I can't really debate you on honestly. You literally hit the nail on the head, no worries I will continue to ponder about the next site suggestion.

Deal - February 15, 2019, 12:12 am

(Feb 15, 2019 01:09 AM)Sour Blood Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You make good points of which I can't really debate you on honestly. You literally hit the nail on the head, no worries I will continue to ponder about the next site suggestion.

Sure thing buddy. Just because I don't agree doesn't mean it's not a nice suggestion!

Keep em' coming! ?

webdev77 - February 15, 2019, 4:51 pm

(Feb 13, 2019 08:58 AM)Sour Blood Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What about a like button, if you were very helpful I'd hit the like button and a list of names would appear at the bottom of the post.

A donate bytes button would be better than a like button.

Playboy - February 15, 2019, 4:55 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 05:51 PM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A donate bytes button would be better than a like button. I would be happy to see this but it already exists? Just a less faster way of doing it.

We should hold users at a much higher moral obligation. For example, a user was offering $20 for help and advice. I helped and advised the user and he simply logged out without following through with his end. (true story) We should morally hold that user accountable and punish him accordingly as that is still considered a BM scam. (if you think about it)