Thread: Earnings from ewhoring on OnlyFans

TheChaosKiller - February 14, 2019, 10:44 am

Newest account has gone from $80 a month of passive side income, to $1732 in the first two weeks of February. Looking to be a great year!

Only fans is a website

When members subscribe to you monthly?.

Btw how did you got verified to only fans

I have a method for getting it done, completely legal and allows me to use multiple ewhores if I want. And yeah it's a subscriber site, monthly subscriptions and you can cash out whenever you hit $100 in balance.

Biggy - February 14, 2019, 1:27 pm

How much do you charge monthly / what do your packages look like?

And would you be down to help me get on that site? Kinda tired of doing everything manually

I vary the cost from anything between $10 to $40 and imply I'm having a sale or discount week/month, and then the ones that sign up for the cheaper rate get sent more pay to view messages so I can rinse them for the same amount. I do standard posts to keep them active and looking, pay to views, and custom pics or videos for them when they ask. I can help you get on the site, I do offer mentoring for it for a small fee as it's very niche.

Content is delivered via the site, or you can arrange to deliver outside of it, but it's much easier to do it on site.

nice job man...

have you been thinking on using a bot/... to post and...
on a schedual...

just set it up get some posts ready and...

from time to time post somthing you'r self -somthing custom/...

but nice job over all...

(i do think you can do better du...)

regarding that method of yours it's not somthing you'd mind posting...?

i was thinking to get into somthing more like that but i'v got no time this days....

so it can be nice u know...

Congratulations on these earnings. You're making a descent amount of money with this. Some people would even call it a big month salary, which you are getting here.

I won't ask for mentorship nor anything related to your method, skills, strategy or whatever. I do wonder though, how are you being paid?

I prefer BTC or Bank, but the most important thing is, how are you getting paid? Congratulations, once again!

Good earnings Btw!

I have to vet the pack you're using to begin with, but 9 times out of 10 you won't have any issues as the method takes advantage of a loophole that literally cannot be changed now. You will be able to use the content and profit from it without compromising any copyright or laws due to the method of how I make the accounts themselves. You can get paid directly to bank no problem!

I still don't get why you call it ewhoring when you're clearly not doing anything to do with identity theft (so we've been told). Ewhoring is very illegal and this doesn't match up with the term at all.

So you're telling me you get packs online (from HF even, I've seen you post about it before) and 10% of the earnings get distributed by the third party institution to that random person in the pack? How do you get in contact with them? Do they consent? Do they know their pictures are being used by other people besides you on hackforums in an illegal manner?

There's so many questions I have. You said you work/worked at onlyfans, right? Well, if you did, why are you marketing your sales thread to ewhores on hackforums? They're obviously going to be doing illegal activities on the account (identity theft). Why would you want these types of people on your platform? Personal gain? You say that your accounts "won't ever get banned"... what if your boss finds out about all these ewhores using the platform illegally?

I'm going to end this by saying I know onlyfans is legitimate. There's no denying that. However, the way you market your accounts seems VERY sketchy and it has stopped me from buying. Can you prove the claims that you work/worked for onlyfans as well?

I've started this post and rewritten it a few times now, as I wanted to address your concerns without exposing the method or compromising my earning ability, but I've decided I'm going to elaborate a bit more on the method in answer to your questions and leave out certain elements to protect myself.

Firstly, let me just say ewhoring is not always identity theft, not by a long shot, and not always illegal. You can legally pair up with someone and sell their content with their permission, and you can have any kind of agreement in terms of returns/profits. You would be a content and social media manager in that respect.

The packs that I've vouched for on HF are packs that I've viewed myself and had vetted by the institution that I have mentioned in the past, to ensure that the person is alive, of age and contactable by them. Not every pack will get approved because sometimes the person in it cannot be found by their methods, and I've had to tell members in the past that their pack is no good and to find another. This has meant a loss of sales, but that doesn't matter. The institution is able to find most people, and I think you'd be surprised how easy it actually is to find people from images when you're looking in the right places with the right tools. Part of the service I provide, and part of the reason why it can take a few days, is that they get in contact with the person and sort out the proposal and legal aspects. If anyone is in personal contact with the models, they will be able to verify that.

Without completely exposing the method, the person is approached, has a deal proposed and should they accept, they register themselves with the institution as an online model/actor with a stage name different to their birth name. Now OnlyFans normally would not allow people to have more than one account, under any circumstance, but there is a loophole that I know intimately that means the stage names can be used and registered, under the understanding that the account is operated by someone else, with the portion taken from commission given to them in return. Now, I don't get the member's personal information, but anyone who has bought from me can verify when they log in they are asked to fill in their tax information for legal purposes so that the institution then has a full profile to use for the content management and the contract with them is complete, as well as with myself. The agreement has that portion of the OnlyFans commission redirected to the models in question, and they are paid.

You might wonder why anyone would want that, but I can provide a clear example. One pack a member is offering here that I've vouched for features a prominent premium model who is becoming more well known. However, she only speaks English and operates within English speaking countries. She has leased her content to at least three people that I know of, who market and sell her content in the East in countries she would never normally have reach to. She gets paid, and covers a new territory, and OnlyFans makes more money out of it overall, so everybody wins. The only real restriction is that operators do not advertise directly to, or poach, active customers of the person, as then it defeats the purpose and causes problems.

I market the profiles here because the earning potential is huge, and it's helping out the people who don't have as good a reach as others, and effectively reduces their workload. It is ewhoring in the sense that you are using the content of someone else to make money, and I'm able to get a little commission myself from bringing more people to the site. This is honestly the only way I know that it can be done, and have everyone covered, where everyone gets paid for their contribution. OnlyFans will always want more and more people coming to the site, and when it hits a certain number you can expect to see some huge developments and changes because of it.

I can't prove that I worked there without exposing my identity, and of course I'm not going to do that. I appreciate you may personally feel the accounts are sketchy, but this is as best I can explain things without ruining what I'm trying to do. Thanks.

Sheriff1337 - November 16, 2019, 5:57 am
