

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: What if I dont send back a item that I got a replacement from? Or if I dont send ba

HonoredVideos - February 15, 2019, 3:50 am

So like technically a thing I got from amazon is broke and because I have 30daus to get a new one I mean why not it's new?

So i messaged the seller and they said that they are sending a replacement it's in the way.....

they said, we kindly ask me to return the item after I get the replacement... um so it's not a official amazon return so it's not tracked it don't count as I'm returning an item as I didn't click return

so like I could keep the item on theory right? I mean I'd feel bad doing it but I would have to pay for return label as they said they don't offer a free one and I could actually fix this broke. One lol I mean would they like send someone round to tell me off for not sending the return?

U might ask why didn't I just fix the original well as I say I'd rather it guaranteed to work by getting a brand new one but I probably could fix this one

primesquibble - February 15, 2019, 4:01 am

(Feb 15, 2019 04:50 AM)HonoredVideos Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So like technically a thing I got from amazon is broke and because I have 30daus to get a new one I mean why not it's new?

So i messaged the seller and they said that they are sending a replacement it's in the way.....

they said, we kindly ask me to return the item after I get the replacement... um so it's not a official amazon return so it's not tracked it don't count as I'm returning an item as I didn't click return

so like I could keep the item on theory right? I mean I'd feel bad doing it but I would have to pay for return label as they said they don't offer a free one and I could actually fix this broke. One lol I mean would they like send someone round to tell me off for not sending the return?

U might ask why didn't I just fix the original well as I say I'd rather it guaranteed to work by getting a brand new one but I probably could fix this one

only ever refund from amazon themselves, not marketplace sellers. that's scummy dude

Mr. Robot - February 15, 2019, 4:31 am

^^ Never refund scam from anyone.

HonoredVideos - February 15, 2019, 5:06 am

(Feb 15, 2019 05:01 AM)primesquibble Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) only ever refund from amazon themselves, not marketplace sellers. that's scummy dude

I dont understand what you mean? i didnt even ask for a refund

I messaged the seller explaining the problem i had, so i asked them if they maybe had a fix as they might of had people with this issue in the past so maybe there was i way i could fix it but then they just replied literally Oh another one is on the way so like its not like i asked them to do it i was expecting a answer with a possible fix OR a reply saying, Well there isnt a fix so would you like us to send out another and you can return the old one

primesquibble - February 15, 2019, 5:13 am

(Feb 15, 2019 06:06 AM)HonoredVideos Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I dont understand what you mean? i didnt even ask for a refund

I messaged the seller explaining the problem i had, so i asked them if they maybe had a fix as they might of had people with this issue in the past so maybe there was i way i could fix it but then they just replied literally Oh another one is on the way so like its not like i asked them to do it i was expecting a answer with a possible fix OR a reply saying, Well there isnt a fix so would you like us to send out another and you can return the old one

yeah, but don't be a douche and not send it back to them, they're losing money that way. big companies like amazon are fine but don't screw over individual marketplace sellers

Playboy - February 15, 2019, 5:24 am

In my book you're a POS if you try to return scam someone. If all you have to do is return the item, just do it I don't understand why you're even asking this question.

HonoredVideos - February 15, 2019, 12:27 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 06:06 AM)HonoredVideos Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I dont understand what you mean? i didnt even ask for a refund

I messaged the seller explaining the problem i had, so i asked them if they maybe had a fix as they might of had people with this issue in the past so maybe there was i way i could fix it but then they just replied literally Oh another one is on the way so like its not like i asked them to do it i was expecting a answer with a possible fix OR a reply saying, Well there isnt a fix so would you like us to send out another and you can return the old one

(Feb 15, 2019 06:13 AM)primesquibble Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) yeah, but don't be a douche and not send it back to them, they're losing money that way. big companies like amazon are fine but don't screw over individual marketplace sellers do they really though, because all they do is chuck it away unless thats just some

but even then the most thell do is maybe prob not resell as second hand which noone buys that much anyway as its not an expensive thing and plus the set the price so that they dont lose alot too

(Feb 15, 2019 06:24 AM)Sour Blood Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In my book you're a POS if you try to return scam someone. If all you have to do is return the item, just do it I don't understand why you're even asking this question.

because i cant be assed to drive to my nearest post office that i can send it from and i have to pay they said they dont offer free return label and i didnt ask for a replacement

Banter. - February 15, 2019, 12:33 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 01:27 PM)HonoredVideos Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) because i cant be assed to drive to my nearest post office that i can send it from and i have to pay they said they dont offer free return label and i didnt ask for a replacement

And bullshit Amazon can offer you a Free Return label on behalf of the market place seller or the Seller directly can offer a label if not then it only costs a few $ to send back dont be so fucking lazy and get off your ass and return it, if you did not ask for the replacement then cancel the replacement ask for a refund and return the item to the person simple. its common sense

(Feb 15, 2019 05:01 AM)primesquibble Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) only ever refund from amazon themselves, not marketplace sellers. that's scummy dude

Wanna give me your Amazon Profile link ill be more than happy to report you ?

Woods - February 15, 2019, 12:40 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 01:33 PM)Banter. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And bullshit Amazon can offer you a Free Return label on behalf of the market place seller or the Seller directly can offer a label if not then it only costs a few $ to send back dont be so fucking lazy and get off your ass and return it, if you did not ask for the replacement then cancel the replacement ask for a refund and return the item to the person simple. its common sense

Wanna give me your Amazon Profile link ill be more than happy to report you ?

You are on a forum that is known for SE'ing products and you are complaining that he is not gonna return an item from an Amazon reseller who is probably dropshipping anyway. Please sign out while you still have a chance.

Banter. - February 15, 2019, 12:45 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 01:40 PM)Woods Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You are on a forum that is known for SE'ing products and you are complaining that he is not gonna return an item from an Amazon reseller who is probably dropshipping anyway. Please sign out while you still have a chance.

you ASSUME the person is drop shipping is which you meant to say, and i am sorry if i triggered you in some which way but i dont think this takes much SE skills to pull off a Refund/Replacement Scam a 5 year old could do it, i think it scummy for people to basically take money out of peoples pockets, i dont care if the person is drop shipping either which way its a scumbag move if you wanna talk SE skills then at least make it connected to something abit more creative than a simple Return scam because that aint SE'ing its just plain fraud.

HonoredVideos - February 15, 2019, 1:30 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 01:45 PM)Banter. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) you ASSUME the person is drop shipping is which you meant to say, and i am sorry if i triggered you in some which way but i dont think this takes much SE skills to pull off a Refund/Replacement Scam a 5 year old could do it, i think it scummy for people to basically take money out of peoples pockets, i dont care if the person is drop shipping either which way its a scumbag move if you wanna talk SE skills then at least make it connected to something abit more creative than a simple Return scam because that aint SE'ing its just plain fraud.

I can't cancel it didn't you read it? Course u didn't

I Messaged the seller, Asked if there was a fix for my problem

The seller messages me back saying they've already sent out a new one

I didn't ask for that so that is their fault so I shouldn't have to get off my ass to return and pay for a postage label just because I didn't ask

Not the fact that I'm scamming but the fact that I didn't ask for a replacement so why the fuck should I go

And it don't really waste the company's money in fact they will make me happier not wasting my time and let my keep this broken thing and try to fix not that I will now but still then I'm more likely to buy from their brand again but like all they do is fucking throw it in the waste or sell as second hand which again they won't make a lot or no one will bother to buy 2nd hand as it's pretty cheap new anyway

Banter. - February 15, 2019, 1:44 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 02:30 PM)HonoredVideos Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I can't cancel it didn't you read it? Course u didn't

I Messaged the seller, Asked if there was a fix for my problem

The seller messages me back saying they've already sent out a new one

I didn't ask for that so that is their fault so I shouldn't have to get off my ass to return and pay for a postage label just because I didn't ask

Not the fact that I'm scamming but the fact that I didn't ask for a replacement so why the fuck should I go

And it don't really waste the company's money in fact they will make me happier not wasting my time and let my keep this broken thing and try to fix not that I will now but still then I'm more likely to buy from their brand again but like all they do is fucking throw it in the waste or sell as second hand which again they won't make a lot or no one will bother to buy 2nd hand as it's pretty cheap new anyway

Right, if you contacted the seller asking for Advice on a non working product and the Seller cant supply you the help you need of course they will issue you a replacement item now usually that requires you to send the broken item back first in exchange for a new product which is sent to you, i am sorry but i feel like there is more to this than what you say but if you did not ask for a replacement and they issued one to you well the proof of that should be listed in the conversation's you had with the marketplace seller which you should have email copies of.

i suggest you contact amazon support and explain the situation to them and they can email the seller and request a Free return label be provided if you indeed did not ask for the replacement either which way you will need to return either the replacement or the faulty item or your card on file can be charged or your account can be closed.

its not the point the item could be worth $0.20 but you still have to return the faulty item to get a new one. Yes they may dump the item or they may repair it etc but you still have to legally abide by the marketplace Policy, I suggest you get on live chat with amazon and clear the issue up with them and stop being so lazy or be ready to be charged for a 2nd item or have you account closed.

Woods - February 15, 2019, 7:48 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 04:26 PM)James! Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You seem like a cunt. Don't scam people you little piece of shit. Send your Amazon account so I can report the shit out of it.

This forum is not known for SEing. SEing had been banned on here for many years. Please sign out so I don't have to witness your idiocy.

LMFAO! You really believe there are not products that are SE'ed and sold on here? You are fucking delusional.

Unexplained - February 15, 2019, 8:18 pm

Lol bro... Return the item.

Bluffer - February 15, 2019, 8:27 pm

Any questions from them from here just tell them you never got the email asking to send it back and figured they'd given you a free one.

Sure it might sound really fucking stupid and you make yourself seem very stupid but it will work and avoid the hassle.

Kids on here wanna play all goody goody when most on here are carders which is way worse than this. I can't count how many fuckers have bought my products using a stolen Paypal account.

Screwing over a Amazon seller sucks for them but it's not a big deal, I doubt there'll be any repercussions.

Banter. - February 15, 2019, 8:48 pm

(Feb 15, 2019 09:27 PM)?luffer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Any questions from them from here just tell them you never got the email asking to send it back and figured they'd given you a free one.

Sure it might sound really fucking stupid and you make yourself seem very stupid but it will work and avoid the hassle.

Kids on here wanna play all goody goody when most on here are carders which is way worse than this. I can't count how many fuckers have bought my products using a stolen Paypal account.

Screwing over a Amazon seller sucks for them but it's not a big deal, I doubt there'll be any repercussions.

Until the market place seller contacts amazon's seller central staff with proof of the emails being sent and confirming that a replacement will be sent and within that email it will clearly state the faulty item would have to be returned.

I'm guessing you are referring to people's comments within this thread and my points I made were more informative for OP yes I criticised his intentions but he seems like a lazy fuck so I had every reason to in my opinion, can happily say I've never been a carder in the past I've done some bad shit but we shall leave that at that.

Yeah it sucks some sellers are honest people who try to make a honest living and when they are having to double out a order there losing profit so I would say it is a big deal for some people, Amazon is famous for return scams and screwing over marketplace sellers just read there some threads on the seller central forum it shows how big of a issue it can be, and OP could be charged again or have his account closed so I'm not sure how much of a issue that is to him but yes there can be repercussions.

(Feb 15, 2019 08:48 PM)Woods Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) LMFAO! You really believe there are not products that are SE'ed and sold on here? You are fucking delusional.

That's a different matter completely, if you're referring to physical items gained via SE being sold on here then no seller is going to openly admit that unless there brain dead, so I think there is a major difference between assuming a product has been gained via SE and been sold here compared to actual methods and out right obvious information about SE the same would apply to Virtual items the Forum is not known for SE bullshit, what are you living under a rock from 2010 or some bullshit

GiraffeBear - February 15, 2019, 10:37 pm

Nothing would personally happen depending on the value of the item but honestly, it is very unethical and rude.

apepi - February 15, 2019, 10:57 pm

they'll send you a bill and nothing will happen after that most likely unless the product is worth a significant amount