No.

1. You didn't use the contract system so nothing will happen to him.

2. You're not allowed to sell Amazon Accounts here anyways

so rip you

It's okay bro no rip me.

I contacted with Amazon and the police.

I reported that my account was hacked.

Taking it back really soon.

But this fool just lost his reputation in here so now worries for me stop say why you didn't use the contract system.... i saw a lot of dispute here, which most of them use hf contracts , scammers don't care about contracts.

and most reputable members are scammers

You cannot make a deal dispute thread if you did not use the contract system. If you use the contract system and get scammed there's a good chance that memeber will get perm banned just a banned?

what about the loss of money and time?

nothing will be done , they just come back with different id

HF Staff can't do anything about getting someone's money back but they can stop the person from using that account to scam?

Obviously, they will probably come back with a different account but the staff is always actively banning multis.

If you want to lower the chances of getting scammed use of one the trusted middleman in the community.

There's always a risk in an online marketplace lol.
