

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Faking sales

flavoral - February 16, 2019, 7:27 am

So something has got my attention lately, it could've been not faking but they just didn't use contracts.

However, this made me think, whats your thought about the problem of the Sellers who faking sales specially for products which they're selling limited amount of copies to make people FOMO. You would think that they actually sold copies, but then you don't find any contracts of it. Which makes you think if they legit sold a copy without a contract or it fake.

Thoughts?

Edit: I'm talking about hf market sales.

Pyro - February 16, 2019, 7:32 am

I have no idea about that, but i wanna know some other thing

How u got that Omni face award ?

Bacardi Cola Lime - February 16, 2019, 7:32 am

There are sketchy sellers out there who use sketchy methods to promote sales. Hopefully, the contract change from March 1 will solve a good part of this problem.

flavoral - February 16, 2019, 7:34 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:32 AM)mentoles Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There are sketchy sellers out there who use sketchy methods to promote sales. Hopefully, the contract change from March 1 will solve a good part of this problem.

%100 cuz they will risk getting closed if they don't. However then, they fake contracts then which I'm pretty sure some people already doing it.

kontaktusmilli0n - February 16, 2019, 7:35 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:32 AM)mentoles Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There are sketchy sellers out there who use sketchy methods to promote sales. Hopefully, the contract change from March 1 will solve a good part of this problem.

What is contract change?

Raid4Forum - February 16, 2019, 7:35 am

no one cares lol

ALL forums are like this where methods are sold. as if a method was as the seller claimed he WOULD NOT BE SELLING IT IN THE FIRST PLACE

Use your brain op

Bacardi Cola Lime - February 16, 2019, 7:35 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:35 AM)kontaktusmilliOn Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What is contract change?
Use of a contract is mandatory for all deals done here.

flavoral - February 16, 2019, 7:36 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:35 AM)Raid4Forum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) no one cares lol

ALL forums are like this where methods are sold. as if a method was as the seller claimed he WOULD NOT BE SELLING IT IN THE FIRST PLACE

Use your brain op
Can someone decrypt this? ^ lmao

Raid4Forum - February 16, 2019, 7:42 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:36 AM)flavoral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can someone decrypt this? ^ lmao decrypt this too hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5941338

lmao

Deany - February 16, 2019, 7:43 am

They could be selling it offsite or on other forums and just letting others know some product / inventory has been sold. That's my only guess

flavoral - February 16, 2019, 7:43 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:42 AM)Raid4Forum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) decrypt this too hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5941338

lmao
Yeah i guess you're a LQ troll.

(Feb 16, 2019 08:43 AM)Deany Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They could be selling it offsite or on other forums and just letting others know some product / inventory has been sold. That's my only guess That's possible too.

Raid4Forum - February 16, 2019, 7:47 am

(Feb 16, 2019 08:43 AM)flavoral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah i guess you're a LQ troll.
you concerned about users faking ebook sales or not showing you how many copies they really sold.

its a market. if a user IS NOT GETTING SALES OF COURSE HE WOULD FAKE NUMBER OF COPIES SOLD.

ill just assume you braindead since seems you not comprehending anything in this thread

James Burnham - February 16, 2019, 8:36 am

This happens everywhere. Even on TV ads you see companies faking sales, faking reviews, hiring actors to pretend they are scientists that approve the formula of a toothpaste for example. As long as there is no regulation, marketers will have to use "sketchy" techniques just to not get completely destroyed by their competition that doesn't mind using "sketchy" techniques.

flavoral - February 16, 2019, 9:10 am

(Feb 16, 2019 09:36 AM)? Mr. Burnham ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This happens everywhere. Even on TV ads you see companies faking sales, faking reviews, hiring actors to pretend they are scientists that approve the formula of a toothpaste for example. As long as there is no regulation, marketers will have to use "sketchy" techniques just to not get completely destroyed by their competition that doesn't mind using "sketchy" techniques.

Yes, I'm aware of that, you would mostly see that now with shopify stores. However I'm talking about hf threads here.

SIM-1169085 - February 16, 2019, 12:03 pm

This is just part of any marketplace and keeps the economy here on the forums moving. All sellers have their strategies to sell it's the responsibility of the buyer to know what they're buying and if they actually want the service or etc.

Everything you buy they've done something to bring you in and attract you to it. This is a free market.

SUI-3183372 - February 16, 2019, 4:41 pm

It's always been a thing, look at any Blackshadow sales thread. He sells limited quantities of a product that increase in price as one sales (Only 5 copies will be sold, copy 5 = $100, copy 4 = $150, copy 3 = $200, ...). Then once the threads been up for an hour or two he'll mark that the first 2 copies have been sold, even though it's obvious he's had no buyers.

However, at this point I believe a large amount of the responsibility lies on the buyer. You really need to be wise enough to not rush into deals and to research what you're buying if you want to participate in a marketplace such as HF's. It's actually very easy to see through fake marketing and false advertising, you just need to pay attention.

I'm all for draining the swamp and cracking down on Ebook vendors and other immoral sellers, but I'm done pretending like buyers need to have their hands held every step of the way.

Pikachu - February 16, 2019, 5:03 pm

(Feb 16, 2019 08:47 AM)Raid4Forum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) you concerned about users faking ebook sales or not showing you how many copies they really sold.

its a market. if a user IS NOT GETTING SALES OF COURSE HE WOULD FAKE NUMBER OF COPIES SOLD.

ill just assume you braindead since seems you not comprehending anything in this thread
It's seems to me like you're the on that's clueless about what OP is trying to ask. If you don't have anything positive to say, just don't say it. Keep your negative comments to yourself thanks. :)

@OP There may be scandalous users trying to pull off some BS, perhaps not everyone is like that but i wouldn't doubt the fact that some shady things like that go on in here.

falkenburry - February 16, 2019, 5:19 pm

I see it all the time, it happens everywhere

flavoral - February 17, 2019, 1:39 am

(Feb 16, 2019 06:03 PM)Mimikyu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) @OP There may be scandalous users trying to pull off some BS, perhaps not everyone is like that but i wouldn't doubt the fact that some shady things like that go on in here.

Oh i know, I'm not generalizing anyways. There's always shady and legit people in every industry/market.

PerfectStorm - February 17, 2019, 1:43 am

Yeah I am sure you read this already but everyone should take a look:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5941813>

flavoral - February 17, 2019, 2:11 am

(Feb 16, 2019 05:41 PM)Previously Known As.... Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's always been a thing, look at any Blackshadow sales thread. He sells limited quantities of a product that increase in price as one sales (Only 5 copies will be sold, copy 5 = $100, copy 4 = $150, copy 3 = $200, ...). Then once the threads been up for an hour or two he'll mark that the first 2 copies have been sold, even though it's obvious he's had no buyers. These type of sellers who raise the price after every sale are always a big red flag for me. Specially its the same basic product.

(Feb 16, 2019 05:41 PM)Previously Known As.... Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) However, at this point I believe a large amount of the responsibility lies on the buyer. You really need to be wise enough to not rush into deals and to research what you're buying if you want to participate in a marketplace such as HF's. It's actually very easy to see through fake marketing and false advertising, you just need to pay attention.

It's always the buyers responsibility to check once or twice before buying anything to check if that product is legit, price is worth it and if the reviews are legit. However, in some cases it might be hard if the buyer doesn't have background knowledge on that topic/niche/type of products. I personally for example, I can easier know if something is legit, and call bs on any products i have experience and good knowledge in that specific field Like growing IG, FB YT accounts, Music Industry, etc... On the other hand, I can't tell which RAT is good and which is not cuz i don't know anything about RATs.

(Feb 16, 2019 05:41 PM)Previously Known As.... Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm all for draining the swamp and cracking down on Ebook vendors and other immoral sellers, but I'm done pretending like buyers need to have their hands held every step of the way.

Ebook section has always been a weird place for me. The majority of the ebooks there are LQ and done in under 30min and getting sold for shit ton of money, but the few HQ ones almost don't get much attention. I keep shit talking about ebook sellers, but at the same time i won't lie, every now and then i keep thinking if i should make an ebook/guide in something i have good experience in. However, if ever make one, i wanna make sure its a legit one, not overpriced, well presented. I will prob hit you up to check it yourself and call bs if you want lol