

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Kaspersky Internet Security + Malwarebytes Premium on realtime

aerohacker - February 16, 2019, 9:08 pm

I want to use Kaspersky Internet Security and Malwarebytes Premium together in realtime, but on the MB site says that the premium version replaces the AntiVirus, even though it being an AntiMalware may have incompatibility with KIS which is an AntiVirus?

B-96 - February 18, 2019, 9:48 am

I would recommend using Sophos Products instead. It has literally everything and more than you could ever need.

aerohacker - February 20, 2019, 6:08 am

(Feb 18, 2019 10:48 AM)B-96 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would recommend using Sophos Products instead. It has literally everything and more than you could ever need.

What points do you highlight?

Blazin - February 20, 2019, 6:09 am

(Feb 16, 2019 10:08 PM)aerohacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I want to use Kaspersky Internet Security and Malwarebytes Premium together in realtime, but on the MB site says that the premium version replaces the AntiVirus, even though it being an AntiMalware may have incompatibility with KIS which is an AntiVirus?

You can run malwarebytes with most antiviruses. I run the pro malwarebytes with pro avira.

Sure malwarebytes will claim you don't need a AV, but I don't trust there false positives nor do I trust one safety net.

They say you don't need a av, not because you can't run one but because they feel it gives you sufficient protection.

I would avoid kaspersky since they got caught doing some shady things.

aerohacker - February 23, 2019, 7:19 pm

(Feb 20, 2019 07:09 AM)Blazin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can run malwarebytes with most antiviruses. I run the pro malwarebytes with pro avira.

Sure malwarebytes will claim you don't need a AV, but I don't trust there false positives nor do I trust one safety net.

They say you don't need a av, not because you can't run one but because they feel it gives you sufficient protection.

I would avoid kaspersky since they got caught doing some shady things.

1) What is your security setup?

2) What kind of shady things?

Blazin - February 23, 2019, 8:15 pm

(Feb 23, 2019 08:19 PM)aerohacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 1) What is your security setup?

2) What kind of shady things?

1. I just told you my security setup.
2. You can google it yourself.

Have a nice day sir.

Elweth - March 1, 2019, 6:13 am

Shouldn't be a problem, I run both as well. Works fine!

Goku - March 2, 2019, 4:49 pm

(Feb 20, 2019 07:09 AM)Blazin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can run malwarebytes with most antiviruses. I run the pro malwarebytes with pro avira.

Sure malwarebytes will claim you don't need a AV, but I don't trust there false positives nor do I trust one safety net.

They say you don't need a av, not because you can't run one but because they feel it gives you sufficient protection.

I would avoid kaspersky since they got caught doing some shady things.
Doesn't running more than one av on your pc slow it down? I think that's a good reason for not using another av. Do let me know if using those two really does do the work.

GTA WOLFT HD - August 30, 2019, 7:20 pm

THANKS :) bro nice keys for kaspersky

pein - August 30, 2019, 7:57 pm

just don't click shady shit and you are fine

i got antiviruses but i prefer the ones which are more like run manually time to time im using webroot, it's generally good on recognizing stuff, online database and good hermeutics, very low memory usage and i can white lsit cracks easily i used a lot of stuff, anti malwares are fine as logn as you know what you are doing, if you don't, and want to risk downloading shit, do it from a virtual windows or sandbox kaspersky and norton is memory heavy and really doesn't provide much for it the antivirus game is also rigged, they need cosntant viruses and threats to fight against so they create their own

so i like the concept of hermeutic scans and then actually run trough some online sites which let you check with multiple anti virus another good choice is securA plus with clam av

i believe that prevention is better, and as soon as something is shady, you can realize with a bit of experience

my browsing habbits changed a lot you can use stuff like WOT toolbar to see site reputations, i installed it for my mom and ever since she doesn't click so many virus links, it's just a simple red/yellow/green circle soemtimes is false positive but it wont hurt to know if anyone experienced any problems before the other one i use is ublock origin, it's a low impact ad blocker and easy interface other than that, maybe use a good vpn/change ip addresses, password frequently against personal attacks if you are more famous, got anything important to lose