Thread: id=3924584 Fake sales vouch begging

No offence but in the best interest of the community I must make this aware. IF I did do this, which I wouldn't do, you would make me look like a POS if you were to scam someone. I cannot allow my name to be butchered over bad mannered trading practices.

Sent the same pm to me, I asked if he meant exchange vouch copies and he literally just said fake vouching isn't against forum rules. Do not buy his services

Hi, I never asked for vouches of my product, just asked you to vouch for me :) i.e. "Black Hat is a cool guy I recommend his product".

As far as I was aware this was not against the rules, I did check all the help documents prior to sending that PM.

If anyone has any objection to the authenticity of my script I can give you a live demonstration of it in action, I'm just trying to improve my sales.

I don't understand why a community alert was necessary everyone has people vouch on their threads even without purchasing a product.

I never asked you for a fake vouch, I asked you for a real vouch.

Where did I ask for a fake vouch, please? SMH asking for people to vouch for you & your product when i havent interacted with either is a terrible sales practice, trading vouches to boost sales is shitty as fuck my dude

It's very obvious what you where doing dude don't make the hole deeper.

'Vouch for eachothers sales threads' is very different from 'vouch for me as a person'

I would not of vouched on anything that I didn't believe to be true but you two seemed like genuine people hence why I asked you in the first place. But whatever my product is selling well 4 sales so far and no complaints I even got a bonus for spending extra time helping some guy set his script up because his CLI was having problems with executing python commands.

So before you run my name through the dirt you could have tried speaking with me, I messaged you in good faith, not to deceive people but only to bolster sales to people as a market strategy I'm sorry if you received it negatively but I never expected you to take my message in poor taste.

And if someone could link me to something that says explicitly that asking for a vouch is against the rules or general forum etiquette I would appreciate it because I couldn't find anything in the Help Docs, rules section or through multiples attempts using the search feature.

Maybe asking for a vouch is just a grey area I wasn't aware of I regret asking now and I won't do it again and if you would delete this thread I would appreciate it.

No the OP shouldn't delete the thread, it shows your character quite nicely and it makes an excellent point. Never trust reviews here, there are people like you around.

People like me? So asking for two people to speak positively about me defines me as a human being, come on.

At least I'm selling an actual working product I could be in the e-book section selling some bullshit method and have all my friends vouch for me there.
