Also the Infamous userbar is for a seperate group then the Samirtains. You can go to the extras page then to the groups list page and see a list of all the official groups, their leaders and also their userbars.

Also, side note if you don't get accepted on the first wave there's still a chance you can get into the group. I'm going to leave the recruitment open and constantly kick and add members so if your application didn't stand out to me this recruitment phase it could be the next.
