you use the same formbook screenshot on every thread. youve literally only had experience with one botnet, and im 100% sure you dont know how to setup, troubleshoot, and be able to fix and maintain 10 different botnets..

this thread is a joke

If you can setup form book or azorult properly, you can setup most botnets. It is not very difficult, requires only basic understanding of computer networking.

I am not sure why that makes you believe OP can't setup and give support / mentorship for other botnets.

Elaborate more on your accusations ? because it sounds like you're just sales trashing at this point.

I don't exactly see a point in this thread however as I truly believe if you are willing to break the law and be charged with a federal crime for breaking into computers then you should be able to setup a botnet yourself.

Give some examples, what do you think is so tricky about setting up any botnets? It requires basic understanding of computer networking.

Any relevant botnets or any good botnets being used, are not hard or tricky in any sort of way to setup.

The only case it is difficult is creating your own private botnet, own features, etc... In which case is a completely different topic from what this sales thread is.

If you ask me, your posts are not backed up with any real evidence or reasoning. Give some sort of details or elaborate further otherwise you seem as though you are sales trashing.

These types of posts, I would not be surprised you get some sort of warning for this ?

Also this service I imagine goes WAY beyond just setting up a botnet do not be foolish. Setting up the botnet, having it working is the simplest part. Managing a large network, learning what to do in event of any issues arising like your latest private crypt ending up in the hands of the wrong person.. Things like this are very important in learning to manage a large network.

Have you ever setup a highend botnet or any botnet that had a non functional panel? things such as kronos where you have to manually fix it? I am not hating I'm simply stating that botnet setup services are pretty shitty generally. I don't care about your feelings, your knowledge or anything. If you need a mentor then you are in the wrong field.
