Why buy this?

-Better that .docs exploits as no need for Microsoft Docs and many times they dont work and require Microsoft Word

File Size?

-2kb -5kb

Source Code for sale too?

- Yes I can sell the source code but for a price ofc, send DM

Features?

*Multiple download links! In case one of your download links gets taken down!!!!!! Up to 5 download link! (this is $5 extra)

*FUD

*No Errors

*Silent

*Small

*Fast

*Also it can only execute .exe files

How to buy?

I.M.P - February 22, 2019, 6:45 pm

Vouch copies? Just gotta ask to confirm it's not backdoored, opens connections etc etc

Im not selling Exploit Kits, the user could easily check to see if there are any backdoors by using wireshark or other network monitoring tools

Cod3ing - February 22, 2019, 6:55 pm

How about you show us the payload execution with process hacker open ;(

That would reveal the method used to execute the payload.

I will not do that, no reason to do it

I guess this is a very fair point. GLWS I guess.

I think this is overpriced, because powershell do all the trick you need only to obfuscate and obfuscating .js file its damm easy.

because i've tested my exe alone and it's fully fud.
the only thing that getting detected is the .js.. windows defender will auto detected the .js when it will download and execute no matter how good is the encryption.

till now i haven't seen anyone who can bypass windows defender with .js.. even on exploit.in.

edit: someone offered 1k usd in exploit.in for bypass method for windows defender for .js.

Nope, this is just .js dropper(downloader) not RCE(remote code execution) or exploit.

somebody would need to download .js file and execute it.

If you dont know what your talking about dont make assumptions

This is better because you dont need to install any 3rd party plugins or software, windows has it preinstalled

they get infected the same way docs are, just open
