Perhaps this is the downside to running a nulled theme? You're stealing someone's work. How can you actually be upset when its systems aren't work the way you want them to?

I hate MyBB quick quotes... I had meant to quote you elsewhere, and somehow that's what was setup in that post.

If you can't afford a measly 40$ then you shouldn't set up a website. I hope to god you're not selling your services and this is for yourself because only scum use nulled themes and call themselves "Web Developers for hire".

That's fine. But these themes you're wasting time on aren't really part of the learning curve with web development or even WordPress overall.
