Thread: Cyber Gentlemen group up for sale - 1 BTC.

Mr. Robot - February 26, 2019, 7:13 am

While we do not wish to sell Cyber Gentlemen, it is up on the market for 1 BTC.

This is due to the funds being needed for another project - We do wish to buy a group back later on if someone purchases this group.

If anyone is interested, please PM myself or TrustWoofers - neither of us have time currently to maintain the subforum while we have other projects in the works to the extent we wish. Right now the amount of content we can add to the group isn't satisfactory.

Cheers.

Damn this sucks to see, I've heard really good things about the group and I seen a lot of potential for it also, Good luck Robot.

At the moment it's just a breeding ground for incubating ideas as well as some tutorials, working on my game and projects.

I appreciate it.

Honestly if it doesn't sell, it's totally cool. I'll continue trying to up the activity inside but i'll be PMing all the users (40+) to see what's happening.

If activity doesn't pick up then there's no point other than the password protected section which I and a few others use for 0days

Have you considered selling some of the 0days to bug bounty programs? Depending on the company and seriousness of the vulnerability, you can potentially make a few grand per. Just don't trust Apple to pay it out (bunch of cheap pricks will just put you on some "thank you" list...)

Another project you say? I hope you main focus is on the main game and not this side chick thing

That's generally what we do in there however it's usually the 5 of us chatting and sharing what we find (helping each other)

Tbh I don't see this selling for $3800. Past two groups that were sold in the past week both went for ~$2500.
