Thread: Run a batch file in background when executing rar file? fasma89 - March 1, 2019, 6:41 am

Hello. Is there any guide to help me out how to do that? Lets say i have a rar file and when i run it it executes a batch file .

Have you tried googling it? There are multiple ways to bind payloads to different files. I don't think anyone here is going to spoon feed you, but I might be wrong.

does a rar file execute when you open it, or does it get opened in another application that runs and parses the data?

does a .txt file get executed, or does it just get read by another application (ie. notepad)?

sounds like you just have a really skewed perspective of how files and programs actually work on your system.
