Thread: Buying Amazon Gift Cards?

Godlypkz - March 5, 2019, 6:05 pm

So I am looking to buy Amazon Gift Cards off other users.

However I am sceptical about having my account banned if these gift cards are from e-Whoring / Carding etc...

I was wondering if there is a way around this risk?
Maybe if they redeem first?

There's is not.

Deal at your own risk.

There is no way around it, that's just the risk you run when buying any type of gift card/code from grey market sources. While there are techniques usually adopted within the SE community to unlock accountst and such if you get hit with;

Quote:"Hello,

We have closed your Amazon.com account and canceled all open orders.

We took these actions because you continued to submit invalid gift cards as payment for Amazon.com orders.

Sincerely,

Account Specialist

<http://www.amazon.com>"

It's an uphill battle, the second your account is suspended/locked/placed on hold it is the biggest pain in the fucking ass even contacting Amazon. The only people who can assist you are the Spaz team via email, CS will not assist you at all.

I see.

Thanks both for the quick response.
