SAS is not a scam it is indeed legit but it's a better android rat it's not that good for pc tbh, it gets the job done, works as a decent loader. It's at least a 6/10 windows and 9/10 android

But WebMonitor is so much better as long as you don't have blackhat intentions

Considering you want both in one SAS is your best option

As for crypters I'd go to another forum or maybe look at Data protector

The website is now offline, i don't know why. On the forum maybe with the search section, or maybe i can send you in PM ?
As you want

<https://www.media.nick-name.net/software/orcus/>

Just let's say this is the new official site, since it's a modified better version, unbackdoored (if I got Nick right). So just use the above link, and you'll be fine.

Don't waste your money on remote administration tools, they are not worth it.
You can get same functions that you need free by doing some research.

I still love Babylon.. but I guess it's a bit outdated, and not that great if you want many/good features.
